Apollo 16 Crew Receives Geology Refresher Course

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 16 astronauts receive a refresher course in lunar geology today as the countdown continues on time for Sunday's liftoff to the moon.

John W. Young, Charles M. Duke Jr. and Thomas K. Mattingly II have had extensive geology training but scheduled the session with lunar scientists to brush up on some aspects.

They will concentrate on surface landmarks they will track from lunar orbit. They also planned practice time in space-suit trainers.

Color Vision Problem Noted

School Children Prime Target

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Perhaps 11 per cent of school children aged 3 to 10 may have a certain mild color vision deficiency, researchers reported today.

Because of the unrecognized vision problem, the researchers said, the child might be classed as a poor performer, a slow learner or as having a reading problem. This could produce emotional disturbances, they added.

As a result of a study of school children in Houston, Tex., an evaluation is under way at Bethesda, Md., to see if a link can be established between this vision difficulty and learning problems.

The researchers said the deficiency concerns "blue vision," one of three wave bands of light that people see, along with green and red.

Commonly used tests to determine color blindness usually detect a condition severe enough to keep an adult from certain jobs, but are not very good for detecting blue vision defects, the researchers said.

The tests, therefore, are used almost entirely to detect severe color blindness and are seldom given to children.

"A child who has even a mild deficiency of blue vision may have difficulty in seeing the faint blue lines ruled as guides on his writing paper," the report said. "He may be slow at recognizing 'light saving' yellow chalk marks on a blue-green board."

"When given a school test that has been duplicated in the usual faint violet color, he may still be struggling to read it when classmates, whom he knows to be his equals or inferiors, have finished and time is up," the report said.

West German Pilot Dies In F104 Crash

BONN, Germany (AP) — The pilot of a West German F104 Starfighter jet died when the plane crashed near Nainburg in Bavaria Tuesday, the Defense Ministry announced.

The West German armed forces have now lost 152 Starfighters and 71 pilots have died since the U.S.-designed plane built under license in Germany was introduced in the early 1960s.

2 Big Firms Told To Cut Product Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moving swiftly, the Price Commission has issued orders to two large companies to roll back prices as a result of having profit margins larger than those allowed under present economic controls.

Browning-Ferris Industries, Inc., a waste management firm in Houston, and Harvest Markets, Inc., food retailers in Buffalo, N.Y., were ordered to drop prices within 10 days and report profit margins on a monthly basis until further notice.

The action, announced Wednesday, followed by a day the disclosure by Cost of Living Council Director Donald Rumsfeld that preliminary studies of first-quarter earnings of 105 firms indicated as much as 20 per cent of the country's biggest businesses were recording excess profit margins.

Browning-Ferris President Louis A. Waters, who had been notified of the commission action by chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr., said in a statement released in New York that his company has complied with federal regulations.

He said rapid growth, "coupled with substantial operating deficiencies and economic scale, has generated record earnings as well as increased margins."

"We are confident that a review of the facts with the Price Commission will bear out our complaints not only with the letter, but with the spirit of the regulations," Waters said.

There was no immediate reaction from Harvest Markets.

Along with the orders for price reductions, the Price Commission issued an order for a subsidiary of International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., Airmco Industries, Inc., to refund in full differences between base prices and selling prices of all brake shoe equipment sold between Jan. 3, and Feb. 23, 1972.

Senate Sets Vote On War Power Curbs

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed a bill today to limit the power of the president to commit U.S. armed forces to hostilities without the approval of Congress.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate votes today on a bill that would limit the president in his use of the armed forces without congressional approval.

In a series of lopsided votes Wednesday, senators refused to sidetrack the bill pending constitutional studies or to substitute weaker provisions of a House-passed resolution.

The bill permits the president, without the okay of Congress, to commit troops to battle only to repel an attack, forestall threats or rescue Americans endangered overseas—and the only for 30 days.

If Congress failed to authorize their continued use, after 30 days troops could be used only to protect other U.S. forces withdrawing from combat.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., leader of the 26 senators sponsoring the bill, said, "Historic experience shows that 30 days should be enough for Congress to deal with a situation that makes an incident a war."

Opponents contend the bill would interfere with the constitutional power of the president as commander-in-chief of the armed forces, and weaken the deterrent effect of U.S. forces in the eyes of allies and potential enemies.

Cincinnati Reports Extensive Damage

Violent Storms Rake Nation

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — High wind and heavy rain during a tornado watch caused widespread minor damage in Cincinnati early today.

A tornado watch issued for southern Ohio was lifted at 9:45 a.m. but was followed by a flood watch for 11 southeast Ohio counties.

Wind accompanied by an electrical storm flooded Cincinnati streets and caused traffic tieups during the morning rush hour. One warehouse had its roof blown off and the wall of another building collapsed. The National Weather Service said heavy overnight rain caused a flood problem in central and south central parts of the state. Flooding involved small streams from Upper Sandusky and Bucyrus southward almost to the Ohio River. Small streams overflowed in the Scioto River basin. Alum Creek at Columbus was near major flood level while nearby Walnut Creek was over its banks at many points. Flood watches were in effect for the counties of Fairfield, Hocking, Perry, Meigs, Gallia, Lawrence, Washington, Monroe, Vinton, Jackson and Athens.

The weather service reported possible flooding in the Hocking River basin during the day as showers and thunderstorms continued.

A Proctor and Gamble Co. warehouse in Cincinnati lost part of its roof to high wind.

The roof was blown into the streets, blocking traffic in the Mill Creek Valley area. The debris hit several cars. One woman was injured slightly when the debris struck the car in which she was riding.

A wall at the Buschman Conveyor Co. collapsed during the storm. No injuries were reported.

In Pickaway County, the sheriff's office reported heavy rain caved in a basement wall at an apartment construction site in Ashville. A minor fire resulted when the wall fell on a gas furnace.

Low areas on highways in Fairfield County were flooded. The Ross County Sheriff's office said lightning caused fires in a house and a lodge at a fishing camp. The office said highways around Chillicothe were flooded. Paint Creek, Scioto Creek and Indian Creek were all over their banks.

A barn was blown over in Jackson County but there was no report of injury or death to livestock.

Reds Push Spearhead Into An Loc

SAIGON (AP) — Thousands of North Vietnamese troops stormed An Loc with tanks at dawn today and by late afternoon had taken half of the provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon, field reports said.

Heavy fighting raged in the streets at dusk, according to the reports.

Official reports reaching Saigon late today said the northern half of the town was in North Vietnamese hands and tanks had taken over the airfield.

Some reports said the 12,000

South Vietnamese troops in the town were rallying under the cover of hundreds of American air strikes. Field reports said the North Vietnamese had lost 34 armored vehicles.

It was the first time in the 15-day-old Communist offensive that the enemy had been able to drive into a provincial capital. President Nguyen Van Thieu ordered the defenders to hold at all cost.

Field reports said an armored column sliced into An Loc from the northeast and infantrymen from the north in a two-prong drive. The town is divided by Highway 13, with the newer portion and airfield on the north and the old section and provincial headquarters on the south.

The biggest gunship the U.S. Air Force has, the four-engine AC130, attacked the advancing troops. American jet fighters pounded the armored column. The American planes braved heavy antiaircraft fire, but none was reported shot down.

Field reports said the seven of the armored vehicles destroyed were Soviet T54 tanks, the most powerful the North Vietnamese have.

Several of the armored vehicles blasted their way into the city before they were knocked out.

South Vietnamese officers claimed 200 North Vietnamese had been killed.

Incomplete reports said 15 to 20 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and about 30 were wounded.

South Vietnamese rangers were reported in heavy, close combat with enemy forces a mile east of An Loc.

Elsewhere in the war, the North Vietnamese shelled four U.S. bases along the central and northern coast and the coastal city of Qui Nhon, 275 miles northeast of Saigon. A rocket attack on the Da Nang air base killed 14 Vietnamese civilians, wounded 11 American servicemen and 25 Vietnamese civilians, destroyed an American (Continued on Page 2)

City Policeman Breaks Short Stop Armed Robbery

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Staff Writer

The perseverance of Cincinnati Patrolman Jack Mills resulted in charges of armed robbery and shooting with intent to kill being filed in Pickaway County Wednesday against a 21-year-old Lancaster man.

Michael L. Warner, 325 Wyandotte St., faces the charges in connection with the March 9 holdup of the Short Stop market on E. Main St.

The suspect allegedly entered the market at 11:50 p.m., fired several shots from a revolver, and rifled the cash register before herding two employees and a customer into the cooler.

On March 22 a similar type robbery took place in a market in Athens. The lone unmasked bandit took three men hostage and forced them to drive him to Columbus. ***

HE made the men get out of the car and fired several shots at them as they ran from the scene. The auto was found abandoned later near Scioto Downs.

Officer Mills, hearing of the Athens robbery, made a composite drawing of the bandit from a description furnished by a witness to the Short Stop holdup.

Mills and Sgt. Larry Pontious took the sketch to Athens where another composite was made from a description furnished by a witness to the Athens holdup. The drawings matched and a description of the bandit was sent to all law enforcement agencies in the area.

On March 31 Lancaster police notified Circleville they had picked two men up for parole violation and had them in custody. One of the men matched the description of the robber and Mills went to Lancaster and interrogated them.

Warner refused to talk but his companion, Ray Moore of Lancaster, told Mills that Warner carried a .38-caliber revolver in the glove compartment of his car.

ATHENS authorities were notified of Warner's arrest and took him back to Athens where witnesses positively identified him as the Athen's holdup man.

Warner is now in custody in Athens under $60,000 bond. He is charged with armed robbery, shooting with intent to kill, auto theft and abduction.

Pontious and Mills returned to Athens and took pictures of Warner in an effort to tie him into the Short Stop robbery. Identification by the witnesses was not positive as he was wearing a ski mask during the Circleville robbery.

However, the one witness who had furnished the description for the composite drawing said (Continued on Page 2)

Frontier Airlines Plane Skyjacked

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation reported a Frontier Airlines 737 jet was skyjacked over New Mexico today by two men who said they wanted to go to Los Angeles.

The FBI and Phoenix police said two men were involved, and that the pilot had been ordered to land at Phoenix.

Neither agency knew how many passengers were aboard the twin-jet plane.

Frontier said the flight originated in Denver, with stops scheduled at Albuquerque, Tucson and Phoenix.

Chief Executive Gets Muscle Relaxant

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's personal physician says the chief executive receives a muscle relaxant treatment from an osteopath about twice a month.

Dr. Walter R. Tkach emphasized Tuesday that the treatment was merely for muscle relaxation, that the President has no backache or other skeletal trouble.

Set Probe Of Crime In Sports

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee, whose investigators say organized crime has infiltrated professional sports and fixes the outcome of athletic contests and horse races, has tentatively scheduled public hearings starting April 24.

Investigators for the House Select Committee on Crime say they have not yet determined the extent of infiltration of teams through management, arena ownership and concession rights. But a committee source said the initial hearings will focus on crime-syndicate dealings in horse racing.

"Evidence of fixed horse races and prize fights and basketball games has come to the attention of the committee," it said Wednesday in a preliminary statement. "The fact that underworld elements hide behind legitimate front men in acquiring, owning and operating sports activities is well documented."

The committee statement also noted that governors of two states and a number of state and local officials have been indicted in recent years in connection with sports - bribery cases.

It said hearings are planned tentatively in New York, New Orleans and Los Angeles "on the basis of leads developed by the investigative staff." The committee source said these plans may be changed.

Drug Addicts Face Footprinting Soon

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, special assistant to President Nixon on health policy, says physicians throughout the world soon will begin footprinting drug addicts.

"There are millions of fingerprints on file in the United States alone," he said.

"However, many physicians are reluctant to use them because they are identified with a man's name or previous criminal activity," he said. "The footprints will not be filed by name, but by code numbers. This will preserve the privacy of the doctor-patient relationship."

Strip Mine Licensing Jam Seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — As many as 20 strip mine operators may see their licenses expire before the state is in a position to issue them new ones.

Division of Forestry and Reclamation Chief Ernest Gebhart said the fact the new strip mine legislation passed as an emergency measure left his office no time to implement licensing regulations.

The Zoar Mining Co. of Tuscarawas County will shut down its operations Friday because no state machinery has been set up to give them a new permit.

A provision in the new law, however, makes license renewals automatic for 25 acres or less if the chief has not acted upon a request one way or another while administrative procedures are being drawn up.

Gebhart said that provision would apply in the current situation, but that forms for applications have not yet been prepared.

The operators could, he said, go ahead and make application under the provision, but it would still be up to his office to determine if it was a proper filing.

Kissinger Postpones Planned Japan Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger has postponed a planned visit to Japan because of the latest crisis in Indochina.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler noted that Dr. Kissinger is chairman of the Washington Special Action Group, a crisis-oriented committee that has been meeting almost daily since North Vietnamese troops charged across the demilitarized zone into South Vietnam two weeks ago.

Congress Eyes Plan To Curb Committees

WASHINGTON (AP) — After years of legislative inaction while unchecked panels grew into a new influential arm of government, Congress is suddenly moving to reform the $75 million-a-year advisory-committee system.

With bipartisan support for legislation to end secrecy, proliferation, duplication, special-interest influence and wasted effort, similar bills were approved Wednesday by a House committee.

The near-simultaneous steps were described by reform advocates as historic victories in a long campaign to control the spread of costly committees which advise public officials but frequently operate behind closed doors.

The legislation's key features as approved by voice vote of the House Government Operations Committee would require a president to reply to his boards' reports; set up a two-year self-destruct mechanism aimed at keeping old boards from lingering in the bureaucracy after their duty is done; and open advisory-group meetings and records to the public. A management secretariat would be created in the president's Office of Management and Budget, empowered to check each advisory panel and determine whether it is doing its job or should be abolished. Estimates of the number of existing panels range as high as 3,000.

The Senate inter-governmental-relations subcommittee voted unanimously for a similar bill. A chief difference is the Senate bill's provision requiring publication in the Federal Register of all advisory affiliations—a section not in the House measure.

By ARTHUR EVERETT
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — As the deadliest gangland warfare in a decade swept across New York City these past two weeks, Police Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy observed of the combatants:

"They play for high stakes. They live dangerously. They sometimes die by the gun they love by."

During the two weeks, seven have died in underworld-style, slain by the gun. Murphy today had hundreds of police engaged in an effort to end the shooting. From the commissioner, his men had this mandate:

"We cannot permit the streets of this city to become a battleground for gang warfare."

Three of the biggest names in organized crime figured in the current underworld drama. There was Joseph Colombo, 48, youngest of all the Cosa Nostra chieftains, now comatose with brain damage from a bullet in the head last June.

There was Joey "Crazy Joe" Gallo, 43, a flashy mobster assassinated last Friday, a decade after he had lost a war for control of the crime family later taken over by Colombo.

And there was Carlo "Don Carlo" Gambino, whom authorities call the underworld's boss of bosses—a courtly figure who resembles the "Godfather" of the novel and movie. Police questioned him when the rumblings of war began in his empire.

A suave, gray-haired 69, Gambino came here from his native Palermo, Sicily, in 1921. A stowaway who made it ashore at Norfolk, Va., He is currently under deportation order.

His 1,000-member Cosa Nostra family is said by federal authorities to be deeply involved in loan sharking, waterfront crime, gambling and construction and labor rackets.

A Senate committee in 1963 heard testimony that Gambino and the late Vito Genovese teamed to bring about the 1957 rubout of Mafia chieftain Albert Anastasia, shot to death in a barber's chair in a midtown hotel.

The late Joe Valachi, the mobster-turned-informant, claimed that the contract to kill Anastasia was let by Gambino to the Gallo brothers—Joey, Albert and Larry.

Anastasia's crime family was taken over by Gambino. And when Genovese died in prison in 1969, authorities said Gambino succeeded him as high commissioner of organized crime.

Colombo directed a gang of about 200, described as active in construction, linen supply and liquor rackets, bookmaking and shylocking. The Justice Department listed him with Gambino as one of the Cosa Nostra's eight national commissioners.

Colombo was shot June 28, 1971, while leading an Italian-American rally in Columbus Circle. His assailant, a black posing as a professional photographer, was gunned down on the spot, presumably by Colombo henchmen.

Colombo's family attributed his shooting to the act of a psychopath, unrelated to underworld (Continued on Page 10)

2 Big Firms Told To Cut Product Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moving swiftly, the Price Commission has issued orders to two large companies to roll back prices as a result of having profit margins larger than those allowed under present economic controls.

Browning-Ferris Industries, Inc., a waste management firm in Houston, and Harvest Markets, Inc., food retailers in Buffalo, N.Y., were ordered to drop prices within 10 days and report profit margins on a monthly basis until further notice.

The action, announced Wednesday, followed by a day the disclosure by Cost of Living Council Director Donald Rumsfeld that preliminary studies of first-quarter earnings of 105 firms indicated as much as 20 per cent of the country's biggest businesses were recording excess profit margins.

City Policeman Breaks Short Stop Armed Robbery

The perseverance of Cincinnati Patrolman Jack Mills resulted in charges of armed robbery and shooting with intent to kill being filed in Pickaway County Wednesday against a 21-year-old Lancaster man.

Frontier Airlines Plane Skyjacked

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation reported a Frontier Airlines 737 jet was skyjacked over New Mexico today by two men who said they wanted to go to Los Angeles.

The FBI and Phoenix police said two men were involved, and that the pilot had been ordered to land at Phoenix.

Neither agency knew how many passengers were aboard the twin-jet plane.

Frontier said the flight originated in Denver, with stops scheduled at Albuquerque, Tucson and Phoenix.

Chief Executive Gets Muscle Relaxant

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's personal physician says the chief executive receives a muscle relaxant treatment from an osteopath about twice a month.

Dr. Walter R. Tkach emphasized Tuesday that the treatment was merely for muscle relaxation, that the President has no backache or other skeletal trouble.

Set Probe Of Crime In Sports

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee, whose investigators say organized crime has infiltrated professional sports and fixes the outcome of athletic contests and horse races, has tentatively scheduled public hearings starting April 24.

Investigators for the House Select Committee on Crime say they have not yet determined the extent of infiltration of teams through management, arena ownership and concession rights. But a committee source said the initial hearings will focus on crime-syndicate dealings in horse racing.

"Evidence of fixed horse races and prize fights and basketball games has come to the attention of the committee," it said Wednesday in a preliminary statement. "The fact that underworld elements hide behind legitimate front men in acquiring, owning and operating sports activities is well documented."

The committee statement also noted that governors of two states and a number of state and local officials have been indicted in recent years in connection with sports bribery cases.

It said hearings are planned tentatively in New York, New Orleans and Los Angeles "on the basis of leads developed by the investigative staff." The committee source said these plans may be changed.

Drug Addicts Face Footprinting Soon

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, special assistant to President Nixon on health policy, says physicians throughout the world soon will begin footprinting drug addicts.

"There are millions of fingerprints on file in the United States alone," he said.

"However, many physicians are reluctant to use them because they are identified with a man's name or previous criminal activity," he said. "The footprints will not be filed by name, but by code numbers. This will preserve the privacy of the doctor-patient relationship."

Strip Mine Licensing Jam Seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — As many as 20 strip mine operators may see their licenses expire before the state is in a position to issue them new ones.

Division of Forestry and Reclamation Chief Ernest Gebhart said the fact the new strip mine legislation passed as an emergency measure left his office no time to implement licensing regulations.

The Zoar Mining Co. of Tuscarawas County will shut down its operations Friday because no state machinery has been set up to give them a new permit.

A provision in the new law, however, makes license renewals automatic for 25 acres or less if the chief has not acted upon a request one way or another while administrative procedures are being drawn up.

Gebhart said that provision would apply in the current situation, but that forms for applications have not yet been prepared.

The operators could, he said, go ahead and make application under the provision, but it would still be up to his office to determine if it was a proper filing.

Kissinger Postpones Planned Japan Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger has postponed a planned visit to Japan because of the latest crisis in Indochina.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler noted that Dr. Kissinger is chairman of the Washington Special Action Group, a crisis-oriented committee that has been meeting almost daily since North Vietnamese troops charged across the demilitarized zone into South Vietnam two weeks ago.

Congress Eyes Plan To Curb Committees

WASHINGTON (AP) — After years of legislative inaction while unchecked panels grew into a new influential arm of government, Congress is suddenly moving to reform the $75 million-a-year advisory-committee system.

With bipartisan support for legislation to end secrecy, proliferation, duplication, special-interest influence and wasted effort, similar bills were approved Wednesday by a House committee.

The near-simultaneous steps were described by reform advocates as historic victories in a long campaign to control the spread of costly committees which advise public officials but frequently operate behind closed doors.

The legislation's key features as approved by voice vote of the House Government Operations Committee would require a president to reply to his boards' reports; set up a two-year self-destruct mechanism aimed at keeping old boards from lingering in the bureaucracy after their duty is done; and open advisory-group meetings and records to the public. A management secretariat would be created in the president's Office of Management and Budget, empowered to check each advisory panel and determine whether it is doing its job or should be abolished. Estimates of the number of existing panels range as high as 3,000.

The Senate inter-governmental-relations subcommittee voted unanimously for a similar bill. A chief difference is the Senate bill's provision requiring publication in the Federal Register of all advisory affiliations—a section not in the House measure.

NATIONAL Library Week, April 16-22 is a good time to visit the public library ... Year round, the Pickaway County District Public Library offers its services to all county residents ... In the library you may find new books, records, large print books, art prints, films, newspapers, and magazines ... All of these may be borrowed ... Photocopying equipment and a microfilm reader-printer are also housed in the library ...

From time to time series of story hours are presented for preschool children ... Boys and girls of all ages participate in the library's summer reading program ... On a monthly schedule, the county Bookmobile visits 16 schools and nearly thirty villages and trailer courts ... This service brings books within the reach of every county resident ... Members of the library staff welcome visitors to the library ... If you have not been in the library for some time, you will be pleasantly surprised to see all it has to offer.

CINCINNATI, and especially Pickaway County, were deluged with the first torrential thunderstorm of the season Wednesday night when 7.4 inches of rain fell in the city and an estimated 2-inch rainfall was recorded in the northern part of the county.

The water flooded the Scioto River late this morning and washed out numerous railroad underpasses and bridges on many secondary roads ... Several roads have been

By ARTHUR EVERETT
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — As the deadliest gangland warfare in a decade swept across New York City these past two weeks, Police Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy observed of the combatants:

"They play for high stakes. They live dangerously. They sometimes die by the gun they live by."

During the two weeks, seven have died in underworld-style, slain by the gun. Murphy today had hundreds of police engaged in an effort to end the shooting. From the commissioner, his men had this mandate:

"We cannot permit the streets of this city to become a battleground for gang warfare."

Three of the biggest names in organized crime figured in the current underworld drama.

There was Joseph Colombo, 48, youngest of all the Cosa Nostra chieftains, now comatose with brain damage from a bullet in the head last June.

There was Joey "Crazy Joe" Gallo, 43, a flashy mobster assassinated last Friday, a decade after he had lost a war for control of the crime family later taken over by Colombo.

And there was Carlo "Don Carlo" Gambino, whom authorities call the underworld's boss of bosses—a courtly figure who resembles the "Godfather" of the novel and movie. Police questioned him when the rumblings of war began in his empire.

A suave, gray-haired 69, Gambino came here from his native Palermo, Sicily, in 1921, a stowaway who made it ashore at Norfolk, Va. He is currently under deportation order.

His 1,000-member Cosa Nostra family is said by federal authorities to be deeply involved in loan sharking, waterfront crime, gambling and construction and labor rackets.

A Senate committee in 1963 heard testimony that Gambino and the late Vito Genovese teamed to bring about the 1957 rubout of Mafia chieftain Albert Anastasia, shot to death in a barber's chair in a midtown hotel.

The late Joe Valachi, the mobster-turned-informant, claimed that the contract to kill Anastasia was let by Gambino to the Gallo brothers—Joey, Albert and Larry.

Anastasia's crime family was taken over by Gambino. And when Genovese died in prison in 1969, authorities said Gambino succeeded him as high commissioner of organized crime.

Colombo directed a gang of about 200, described as active in construction, linen supply and liquor rackets, bootmaking and shylocking. The Justice Department listed him with Gambino as one of the Cosa Nostra's eight national commissioners.

Colombo was shot June 28, 1971, while leading an Italian-American rally in Columbus Circle. His assailant, a black posing as a professional photographer, was gunned down on the spot, presumably by Colombo henchmen.

Colombo's family attributed his shooting to the act of a psychopath, unrelated to underworld activities.

Violent . . .

the highway patrol at Jackson reported Salt Creek flooding.

Madison County deputies reported flooding of county roads but none were closed.

Union County reported segments of six highways were closed by high water and several streams in the county were flooded.

The Highway Patrol office at Granville reported segments of three highways under water. The Licking County sheriff's office said some roads were awash but none closed.

Cold and warm weather clashed across the nation Wednesday night and today, triggering tornadoes, violent thunderstorms, floods and snow.

A storm believed to have been a tornado hit Cassville, in southwestern Missouri, while violent-thunderstorm warnings flew over Missouri, Illinois, Iowa and Indiana.

The Cassville storm struck just before midnight and tore up a number of houses and mobile homes. Initial reports said the storm caused at least five injuries, blocked highways with fallen trees and broke a number of power lines.

Winds in excess of 100 m.p.h. were reported in neighboring communities.

A blanket of wintry cold pushed across the Canadian border, dumping heavy snow on northern Minnesota and Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Inter-national Falls, Minn., measured 7 inches of snow overnight.

Heavy rain earlier Wednesday caused extensive flooding in areas of Kentucky and Tennessee, along with numerous landslides along roads in the southern Appalachians.

A 5-year-old girl was swept to her death by a flash flood east of Newport, Tenn., in a mountainous area near the Tennessee-North Carolina line.

Three persons were believed killed in flash floods in eastern Kentucky, where several hundred persons had to flee their homes in the Monticello area.

Farther west, a violent wintry storm swept into the inter-mountain region with snow and high winds. Stockmen's warnings were posted for Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Nevada because of danger to livestock in those states.

Another storm in north-eastern Arizona was expected to change from rain to snow.

Just to the east of the storm, Oklahoma basked Wednesday in the warmest temperatures ever recorded there in April. The thermometer hit 102 in Tulsa and an even 100 in Oklahoma City.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 25 at Lebanon, N.H., to 79 at Abilene, Tex.

Cable Project Planned By Telephone Co.

A project to add underground cable in the southern area of the Circleville exchange is under way, General Telephone Co. of Ohio announced today.

Paul G. Diener, Circleville commercial manager, said this $44,500 project will augment existing facilities which are being used to capacity.

"This job will expand distribution cable to be used in connection with future jobs," said Diener. "It will serve the growing industrial and residential areas in the southern portion of the exchange."

Besides filling current requests for private lines, this project will provide for future growth and further upgrading of party-line service, Diener said.

The Circleville exchange serves 10,542 telephones in a 187.4 square mile area of Pickaway and Fairfield counties.

WHS Students Selected For Concert Band

Six Westfall High School students, Marilyn Keller, Cheryl Miller, Mark Hostler, Judy Schein, John Myers and Randy Smith, have been selected as members of the 100-member Concert Band at the Pike County Dogwood Festival.

The band will make its debut April 29 at 7 p.m., under the direction of Dr. Maurice R. Reichard, professor emeritus of Music at the University Dayton.

The Westfall students join other musicians from Jackson, Pike, Ross and Scioto Counties to compose the first band for the festival, which is scheduled to run from April 28 to April 30.

They will perform selections from John Philip Sousa, V. F. Safranek, George Gershwin, Vincent Youmans, George Kleny, Willis Schaefer and the Carpenters as well as Poyhar's arrangement of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" in their 90-minute concert.

One Hurt In Accident

One man was injured in a two car accident on County Road 511 at the entrance to the Family Outdoor Center 1:20 a.m. Thursday investigated by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Paul Tatman, 28, Laurelville, was treated at Berger Hospital for lacerations to his head and both knees. He required stitches in his forehead.

The accident occurred when Tatman attempted to pass a car driven by Harold Holt Jr., 43, 133 Villa Drive, who was turning into the private driveway.

Both cars sustained heavy damage. Tatman's car veered into an electric pole.

He was charged with driving left of center by Deputy Phil Brown.

Set Investigation In Gun Attack

Linda J. Brucker waived her rights to jury hearing and counsel Wednesday noon in Common Pleas Court for a criminal charge leveled against her by city police.

Mrs. Brucker, whose given address was the American Hotel, entered a guilty plea to a charge of assaulting an officer with a gun. The charge stemmed from the March 27 incident at the Certified Gas Station at S. Court and Logan Sts. She pointed the weapon at Police Sgt. Larry Pontius, who was called to settle a domestic dispute between Mrs. Brucker and her husband.

Judge Guy Cline, sitting on the bench while Judge Ammer is out of town, ordered an investigation prior to sentencing of Mrs. Brucker.

Nixons Set For Talks

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — President Nixon, who embarks on a 40-hour visit to Canada tonight, was cloistered at nearby Camp David today to put the finishing touches on a speech that could mean the success or failure of the journey.

Few officials expect anything approaching meaningful negotiations during the three-day visit, which comes at a time when economic disagreements beset the two countries.

Barely two hours of private discussions between Nixon and Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau are scheduled, and they are expected to touch on differences only in broad terms.

Nixon faces a re-election test in November and Trudeau also most certainly will face an election by October, making meaningful negotiations even more difficult.

For Trudeau, more than Nixon, across-the-border relations are a major political issue, making major concessions before the elections virtually impossible.

In addition, Canadian officials have taken precautions designed to isolate Nixon from the crowds that normally would make for good election-year publicity back in the United States.

191 observed its 27th anniversary with a covered dish dinner before the regular meeting last Tuesday night. Guests were members of the Legion and other members of the family. Mrs. Lyman Dresbach Jr. opened the meeting and Mrs. Ora Shepler presented the flag while Mrs. Lawrence Betz was acting Chaplain. It was announced that May 20 would be Poppy Day. The Merry Misses 4-H Club will sell the flowers in Kingston and afterward will have a party at the Legion Home. Mrs. James Search Sr. and Mrs. Charles Search will be the hostesses for the May meeting.

Members of the Kingston United Methodist Church who have worked for the past nine months to make their Lay Witness Mission held in the Church Friday, Saturday and Sunday, a success, are more than pleased with their efforts.

Over 100 persons attended the inspection of Kingston Chapter 411, Order of Eastern Star last Wednesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kerns, Worthy Patron and Worthy Matron of the Chapter were in charge of the meeting. A fifty year pin was presented to Mrs. Robert Lukens of Muncie, who with her husband once operated a newspaper here. Mr. William Meadows made the presentation.

Honored guests included Miss Marie L. Hamilton, chairman of the Registration Committee of General Grand Chapter and a Past Grand Matron; Mrs. Marvin Thornburg, Past Grand Matron and Grand Trustee of Washington C. H.; Mrs. William

Mr. Fred B. Orr was a guest of the Mt. Pleasant Presbyterian Church's Women's Association last Thursday night when it met at the home of Mrs. Thoburn Orr. Mr. Orr took for his subject life in the area of his home on Route 23 N. at the time of the building of the canal that flowed from Lake Erie to Portsmouth. He described life before the canal was built, many of the hardships connected with its construction and the advantages, to farmers especially, after it was built. Mrs. Frank Graves and Mrs. Neil Morris will be the May hostesses.

Due to the weather the Easter egg hunt planned by the Presbyterian Church was held at the church with three "bunnies" Becky Ankrom, Ronnelle Leadingham and Terry Taylor preparing and hiding the eggs. Tod Carmean won first prize for finding the most eggs, Scott Shaffer was second and Vicki Cooley was third. Kevin Orr and Eddie Umsted found the "magic" eggs, those containing money. Each child got a prize. As a special treat, Reverend Wardwell, playing Peter Rabbit, talked to the children through the inter-com system.

Primary Muddle

As 1972 is proving once again, there are two things wrong with a large number of state primary preferential polls for the presidency: both the voters and the candidates soon tire of them, and no satisfactory alternative presents itself.

Fewer than half the states have presidential preference balloting, but the number is larger this year than in the recent past and there are more contests for pledged delegates. The problem for the candidates is that after each has appeared in several of the primaries, he has stated his complete case on the issues and begins to become repetitious.

Or worse, he may begin switching from one position to another to maintain interest, if not credibility. National primaries, with the states holding their contests on the same day, have been suggested to eliminate some of the tediousness and abuse.

They could create new problems of equal magnitude. The scattered primaries provide a natural weeding process to eliminate the weaker candidates. The field of candidates could double or triple as everyone with a less than remote possibility takes a chance on the prize. The results could be so badly split as to be meaningless.

A national primary also would involve standardization of the ground rules by the federal government. Crossover voting in one state but not in another could not be allowed, nor voting for instructed delegates in one state but popularity contests only in others.

National primaries also could run up the total cost considerably. With the whole nation as the target, the temptation would be strong to pull out all the stops on campaign spending.

Political conventions, with all their shortcomings, take on a more favorable hue as the way to select candidates the more one looks at the expanding primary system.

There is audible evidence, however, and not only in New York, that all horn blowing cannot be blamed on traffic density, and that much of it is, despite the critics, necessary. How else, for example, can a young man announce his arrival in front of his girl's home, or celebrate a football victory, or proclaim his presence in a wedding motorcade?

But the car horn is only one of many modern instruments of torture. To it add the power mower, the jet plane, the pneumatic drill and the clanging garbage can in early morning, and the result is a cacophony that makes both urban and suburban life a horror of excess decibels.

The chief reason people have to put up with so much noise is that few of them really want anything done about it. Some seem actually to enjoy it, perhaps drawing a feeling of security from the enveloping tumult that assures them they are not alone.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, April 13th, the 104th day of 1972. There are 262 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1598, King Henry IV of France signed the Edict of Nantes, granting a large measure of religious liberty to the Protestant Huguenots.

On this date:

In 1366, King Richard II of England was born.

In 1743, the third American president and author of the Declaration of Independence, Thomas Jefferson, was born.

In 1776, Gen. George Washington arrived in New York to prepare the city's defense in the Revolutionary War.

In 1939, Britain and France pledged armed assistance to Greece and Romania.

In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt dedicated the Jefferson Memorial in Washington.

In 1964, the Motion Picture Academy named Sidney Poitier best actor. He was the first black to win an Oscar in the top categories.

Ten years ago: Major U.S. steel companies rescinded a price increase under strong pressure from President John F. Kennedy.

Five years ago: President Lyndon B. Johnson, attending a Western Hemisphere summit meeting in Punta del Este, Uruguay, pledged U.S. support for a Latin American common market.

One year ago: Three armed robbers fled with $250,000 from a bank at a Brooklyn, N.Y., military base.

A healthy tiger fearlessly attacks the dangerous buffalo and sometimes even adult cow elephants.

Preventive medical measures were the key to health on the frontier.

In too many cases, as far as young people were concerned, this prevention consisted of occasional purges—calomel, castor oil and certain patented drugs—when there absolutely was no need of such treatment.

Whether these measures really helped is questionable. But at least they had a psychological effect and nature herself is a great doctor, anyway, and probably affected cures despite frontier medicine's interference.

FRIDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning is excellent for putting in motion whatever new arrangement seems feasible to you, but the afternoon and evening finds an element of doubt present. This requires much more study and work on it if you are to avoid making serious mistakes.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are able to make much progress in the morning. Later in the day you have to be sure not to take any risks. Being as practical as you can is important. Don't argue with mate.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have a good idea in the morning that could take you away from more important things, so schedule your time wisely for best results. Don't neglect correspondence.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can go ahead with ideas for advancement provided you first handle present responsibilities well. Obtain the views of mate before putting plan in operation. Be wise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) An associate has a fine idea for progress in the morning but you have to study it carefully later to really understand it. You can obtain the data you need easily.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) An early start on all that work ahead of you is fine. Take in stride any snags that may arise later in the day. Show that you are equal to the test. Take time to improve your health.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan that recreation with people you like sensibly so that you can really enjoy it with them. Show more affection for closest tie and increase happiness. Be careful in travel.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Morning is the best time to clear up a problem with family that has been difficult in the past. Buy those new appliances for the home. Show that you are a sensible and kind person.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have to become more practical if you are to succeed in today's world. Amusements should be forgotten for the time being. A good time to make necessary repairs in the home.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan how to have more income in the future while cutting down on expenses and your problem is licked. You can get expert advice early, which you should follow without fail.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can gain your aims better now if you listen to the advice of business experts. Get your appearance enhanced first so that you can make a good impression. Use that smile.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Put your good judgment to work instead of relying so much on your intuition. Then you can come to right decisions about important matters. Help one who needs your assistance.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have to prepare early for an important social affair to which you have been invited. You can make a fine impression if you are careful with your language. Show that you have poise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those wise youngsters who will appreciate your words of wisdom. Teach how to be practical and how to work, so that these valuable lessons will not be given forcibly by others later in life. Much vision is in this chart. Education should be directed toward business pursuits. Great wealth is possible during lifetime.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I really feel that I was a spoiled, demanding, only child. I was brought up in a highly permissive home.

I am to give birth in three months and I want to avoid the spoiling methods used on me. Can you suggest some ways?

Mr. W. I. F., Conn.

Dear Mrs. F.: It is so refreshing to read your confession and I am delighted to make some suggestions.

One of the greatest contributions parents can give their children, starting in infancy, is the constant awareness that they are loved and protected. Infants and older children have "sensors" that are often terrifying in their sensitivity.

But they can quickly be taught that along with love come rules. These rules and limitations in themselves add to the child's security. They soon learn that it is easy to conform to "rules of the house" and even enjoy the limits imposed on them.

Limits are not meant to be a form of punishment. Discipline and conformity and civility are not unusual demands. Some parents are really afraid of their children and fall into the trap of ultra-permissive and highly indulgent attitudes that may lead to the spoiling and the retrospective heartaches of overindulgence.

Demands made with love and devotion right from the beginning lay the groundwork for adult maturity. You are a very wise young mother-to-be.

Every few months I have sudden difficulty in urinating. It becomes painful and in a little while it stops. What can

I have only just finished reading the British historian Alistair Horne's account of the 1940 Blitzkrieg, "To Lose a Battle," and therefore the scenes on the TV screen each night, via TelStar satellite, are terribly familiar: the tanks rolling forward in apparent triumph, the inexorable advance of the well-drilled troops and their inexhaustible reserves, the bombed-out villages and cities, but, above all, the stream of refugees — carts, bicycles, children, livestock, makeshift vehicles, mattresses, dolls — pouring down the roads toward, well, anywhere.

World War II was a radio war, and this one is a TV war, but, Marsha McLuhan to the contrary, it is not all that different. I was just 10 years old when the Panzers broke through in 1940, and just old enough to have a complex reaction, not so much different from the one I have tonight: a tingle of awe at their speed — would it be 20 miles today, on the road to the French coast? — their planes, and the sheer athleticism of their entire operation. (Alistair Horne records that the Panzer genius, Gen. Heinz Guderian, was known to his men as Hurry-Up-Heinz, because he was always rushing ahead of his tanks in his command-car, looking for opportunities to exploit.)

But, even at age 10, there was another feeling too: that the French and the British might gather themselves, bend but not break, as they had in 1918, when, as I was aware, my father had been a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army artillery.

In 1940, it did not happen. The French broke and the British cleared out. There were no successful stands on the one-yard line. And yet, as Horne shows, all this was a good deal less inevitable than it appeared at the time. The French army, in fact, was a good one, and as well armed as the Germans. The Germans had incredible breaks they were far from deserving, and much more alert tactical leadership in the field. The British, in awe of the Luftwaffe, held back the RAF for a stand on the island.

No one can foresee the results, political and military, of the early successes the North Vietnamese have enjoyed in Quang Tri Province. But the visual image should be retained: Their mechanized units and their regulars pouring down Highway One into the south. Whatever history says about the Vietnam war, it will not say that the South invaded the North.

On the really vital front, the North Vietnamese may be miscalculated. The Hanoi planners no doubt reason that American opinion is so weary of the war that a successful offensive will complete the process and bring Nixon to an effective surrender. But the first political result of the invasion has been to split the Democratic Party. McGovern, Muskie, and Lindsay have come out against any U.S. military — i.e., air — action against the invasion. Humphrey, Jackson, and Wallace, reflecting just about as much of the normal Democratic constituency, think the North Vietnamese should be thrown back. The open North Vietnamese offensive, therefore, has weakened the political vehicle most likely to accommodate the aims of the North.

Quang Tri

By JEFFERY HARK

But, even more important, there remain those images on the TV screen. Until now, the war has been perceived by the American public as a murky and alien affair, perhaps as a civil war or a revolution. But all of a sudden, a grtat clarification has occurred. The tanks are rolling down the road, right into your living room. Politically speaking, President Nixon has been liberated. What he wants to do to break the North, he very probably can do.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Over the years the banker, the broker, the mutual fund salesman and to some extent the insurance agent have fought for essentially the same dollar—the dollar that remains after the consumer pays for immediate needs.

Each has had considerable success, of course, because many Americans have discretionary income, or income that is not needed for food, clothing and shelter but which may instead be used for other and more distant goals.

But for reasons that seem to be ingrained in the American character, the salesman for each type of institution has found himself limited in that he cannot change consumer thinking sufficiently to substantially cut into the other's territory.

Insurance companies hope to cut into broker territory by offering variable annuities, whose return is pegged to the economy or the stock market rather than to a fixed amount, as has been traditional with insurers.

Brokerage houses are laying plans to sell life insurance. Banks offer life insurance and savings bonds in various combinations. And mutual funds offer plans that insure the return of investment.

It is the latter plan that seems likely to bridge the vast gap that exists between savers and investors, even though the initial response has been more encouraging than overwhelming during the first year.

The first plan was offered one year ago by Fairfield Fund in conjunction with Harleysville Mutual Insurance Co., insuring the investor for long term losses of more than 10 years.

Included in the guarantee was the return not just of the initial value of shares, but also the cost of insurance premiums, sales commissions and administrative charges.

Since then four other funds have joined the market—Side Fund, Capital Trinity, Provident Fund for Income, and Alpha—but the reception has been encouraging rather than overwhelming, and whether it ever will be greater remains to be seen. The experience has been too limited.

Meanwhile, there are at least two considerations that should concern any wise investor: First, is the insurance desirable on the terms offered; second, is it needed at all?

Under the Harleysville plan the minimum cash investment is $3,000, the maximum $120,000. The term is 10 years or more. Premiums are deducted automatically from dividends and capital gains distributions. They amount to 6 per cent.

Why a minimum of 10 years? Why not five years, or even less? "Long-term" for tax purposes means six months or more, although this obviously cannot be these measure for insurance purposes.

Nevertheless, five years seems sufficient for a fund to prove itself. In a period as brief as two years it might be caught in an economic downturn and not be able to show profits. It should be able to in five.

Then he started stomping angrily around the room, punching out with his index finger, shouting at her: "Is that one? Did I punch one of them with my finger? Where is a germ? Show me one!"

Which certainly convinced her that the germ theory of disease, as it was called then, was a phony theory—at least she didn't say anything about it any more in the presence of grandpa.

Old timers in the frontier and semifrontier West may not have believed in germs but they had cures for every ailment known to man or beast.

A doctor was several hours away by wagon or buggy from most farms and ranches, so you cured yourself—or your mother forced a cure down your throat.

Preventive medical measures were the key to health on the frontier.

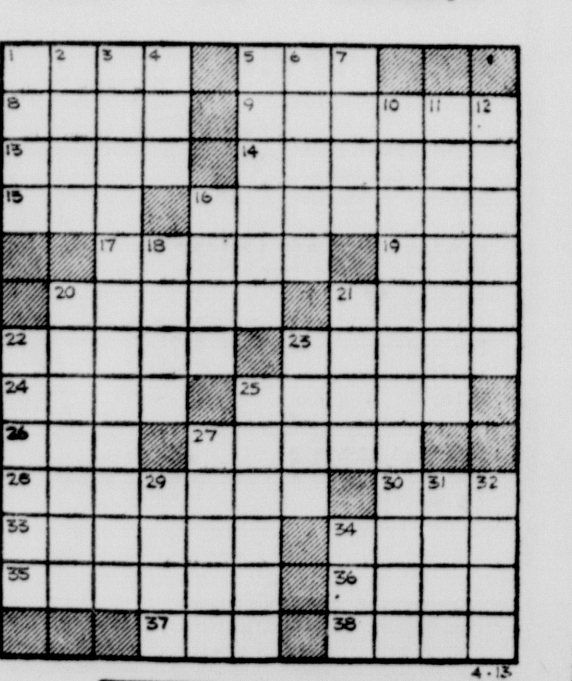

In too many cases, as far as young people were concerned, this prevention consisted of occasional purges—calomel, castor oil and certain patented drugs—when there absolutely was no need of such treatment.

Whether these measures really helped is questionable. But at least they had a psychological effect and nature herself is a great doctor, anyway, and probably affected cures despite frontier medicine's interference.

Horoscope Forecast

By Carroll Richter

FRIDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning is excellent for putting in motion whatever new arrangement seems feasible to you, but the afternoon and evening finds an element of doubt present. This requires much more study and work on it if you are to avoid making serious mistakes.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are able to make much progress in the morning. Later in the day you have to be sure not to take any risks. Being as practical as you can is important. Don't argue with fate.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have a good idea in the morning that could take you away from more important things, so schedule your time wisely for best results. Don't neglect correspondence.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can go ahead with ideas for advancement provided you first handle present responsibilities well. Obtain the views of mate before putting plan in operation. Be wise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) An associate has a fine idea for progress in the morning but you have to study it carefully later to really understand it. You can obtain the data you need easily.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) An early start on all that work ahead of you is fine. Take in stride any snags that may arise later in the day. Show that you are equal to the test. Take time to improve your health.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan that recreation with people you like sensibly so that you can really enjoy it with them. Show more affection for closest ties and increase happiness. Be careful in travel.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Morning is the best time to clear up a problem with family that has been difficult in the past. Buy those new appliances for the home. Show that you are a sensible and kind person.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have to become more practical if you are to succeed in today's world. Amusements should be forgotten for the time being. A good time to make necessary repairs in the home.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan how to have more income in the future while cutting down on expenses and your problem is licked. You can get expert advice early, which you should follow without fail.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can gain your aims better now if you listen to the advice of business experts. Get your appearance enhanced first so that you can make a good impression. Use that smile.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Put your good judgment to work instead of relying so much on your intuition. Then you can come to right decisions about important matters. Help one who needs your assistance.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have to prepare early for an important social affair to which you have been invited. You can make a fine impression if you are careful with your language. Show that you have poise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those wise youngsters who will appreciate your words of wisdom. Teach how to be practical and how to work, so that these valuable lessons will not be given forcibly by others later in life. Much vision is in this chart. Education should be directed toward business pursuits. Great wealth is possible during lifetime.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I really feel that I was a spoiled, demanding, only child. I was brought up in a highly permissive home.

I am to give birth in three months and I want to avoid the spoiling methods used on me. Can you suggest some ways?

Mr. W. L. F., Conn.

Dear Mrs. F.: It is so refreshing to read your confession and I am delighted to make some suggestions.

One of the greatest contributions parents can give their children, starting in infancy, is the constant awareness that they are loved and protected. Infants and older children have "sensors" that are often terrifying in their sensitivity.

But they can quickly be taught that along with love come rules. These rules and limitations in themselves add to the child's security. They soon learn that it is easy to conform to "rules of the house" and even enjoy the limits imposed on them.

Limits are not meant to be a form of punishment. Discipline and conformity and civility are not unusual demands. Some parents are really afraid of their children and fall into the trap of ultra-permissive and highly indulgent attitudes that may lead to the spoiling and the retrospective heartaches of over-indulgence.

Demands made with love and devotion right from the beginning lay the groundwork for adult maturity. You are a very wise young mother-to-be.

Every few months I have sudden difficulty in urinating. It becomes painful and in a little while it stops. What can be done about it?

Mr. G. R., Va.

Dear Mr. R.: The story you tell is typical of some sort of bladder obstruction. It is a common condition usually occurring in people in the older age groups.

Enlargement of the prostate gland is the most frequent reason for the symptoms you describe. But there are a great many other abnormalities that can produce almost identical signs of bladder obstruction. Therefore it is imperative that you seek the opinion of your doctor and that of a urologist, a specialist in such conditions.

There now are a great many tests, including the direct examination of the inside of the bladder with the cystoscope that can quickly establish the exact reason for your trouble.

It is most careless to continue to do nothing about these early symptoms and hope that they just vanish. They may, but the likelihood is greater that the condition may progress if the underlying reason is not corrected soon.

Avoid the danger of broken hips. Scatter rugs on slippery floors are a menace unless firmly fixed in place.

Committee Gets Grant From Endowment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Committee for Public Progress in the Humanities has received a $150,000 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Dr. Thomas Langevin, director of the Ohio group, said the grant will support a program of informal adult education courses in humanities statewide.

Quang Tri

By JEFFERY HART

I have only just finished reading the British historian Alistair Horne's account of the 1940 Blitzkrieg, "To Lose a Battle," and therefore the scenes on the TV screen each night, via TelStar satellite, are terribly familiar: the tanks rolling forward in apparent triumph, the inexorable advance of the well-drilled troops and their inexhaustible reserves, the bombed-out villages and cities, but, above all, the stream of refugees — carts, bicycles, children, livestock, makeshift vehicles, mattresses, dolls — pouring down the roads toward, well, anywhere.

World War II was a radio war, and this one is a TV war, but, Marsha McLuhan to the contrary, it is not all that different. I was just 10 years old when the Panzers broke through in 1940, and just old enough to have a complex reaction, not so much different from the one I have tonight: a tingle of awe at their speed — would it be 20 miles today, on the road to the French coast? — their planes, and the sheer athleticism of their entire operation. (Alistair Horne records that the Panzer genius, Gen. Heinz Guderian, was known to his men as Hurry-Up-Heinz, because he was always rushing ahead of his tanks in his command-car, looking for opportunities to exploit.)

But, even at age 10, there was another feeling too: that the French and the British might gather themselves, bend but not break, as they had in 1918, when, as I was aware, my father had been a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army artillery.

In 1940, it did not happen. The French broke and the British cleared out. There were no successful stands on the one-year line. And yet, as Horne shows, all this was a good deal less inevitable than it appeared at the time. The French army, in fact, was a good one, and as well armed as the Germans. The Germans had incredible breaks they were far from deserving, and much more alert tactical leadership in the field. The British, in awe of the Luftwaffe, held back the RAF for a stand on the island.

No one can foresee the results, political and military, of the early successes the North Vietnamese have enjoyed in Quang Tri Province. But the visual image should be retained: their mechanized units and their regulars pouring down Highway One into the south. Whatever history says about the Vietnam war, it will not say that the South invaded the North.

On the really vital front, the North Vietnamese may have miscalculated. The Hanoi planners no doubt reason that American opinion is so weary of the war that a successful offensive will complete the process and bring Nixon to an effective surrender. But the first political result of the invasion has been to split the Democratic Party. McGovern, Muskie, and Lindsay have come out against any U.S. military — i.e., air — action against the invasion. Humphrey, Jackson, and Wallace, reflecting just about as much of the normal Democratic constituency, think the North Vietnamese should be thrown back. The open North Vietnamese offensive, therefore, has weakened the political vehicle most likely to accommodate the aims of the North. But, even more important, there remain those images on the TV screen. Until now, the war has been perceived by the American public as a murky and alien affair, perhaps as a civil war or a revolution. But all of a sudden, a great clarification has occurred. The tanks are rolling down the road, right into your living room. Politically speaking, President Nixon has been liberated. What he wants to do to break the North, he very probably can do.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Over the years the banker, the broker, the mutual fund salesman and to some extent the insurance agent have fought for essentially the same dollar—the dollar that remains after the consumer pays for immediate needs.

Each has had considerable success, of course, because many Americans have discretionary income, or income that is not needed for food, clothing and shelter but which may instead be used for other and more distant goals.

But for reasons that seem to be ingrained in the American character, the salesman for each type of institution has found himself limited in that he cannot change consumer thinking sufficiently to substantially cut into the other's territory.

Insurance companies hope to cut into broker territory by offering variable annuities, whose return is pegged to the economy or the stock market rather than to a fixed amount, as has been traditional with insurers.

Brokerage houses are laying plans to sell life insurance. Banks offer life insurance and savings bonds in various combinations. And mutual funds offer plans that insure the return of investment.

It is the latter plan that seems likely to bridge the vast gap that exists between savers and investors, even though the initial response has been more encouraging than overwhelming during the first year.

The first plan was offered one year ago by Fairfield Fund in conjunction with Harleysville Mutual Insurance Co., insuring the investor for long term losses of more than 10 years.

Included in the guarantee was the return not just of the initial value of shares, but also the cost of insurance premiums, sales commissions and administrative charges.

Since then four other funds have joined the market—Side Fund, Capital Trinity, Provident Fund for Income, and Alpha—but the reception has been encouraging rather than overwhelming, and whether it ever will be greater remains to be seen. The experience has been too limited.

Meanwhile, there are at least two considerations that should concern any wise investor: First, is the insurance desirable on the terms offered; second, is it needed at all?

Under the Harleysville plan the minimum cash investment is $3,000, the maximum $120,000. The term is 10 years or more. Premiums are deducted automatically from dividends and capital gains distributions. They amount to 6 per cent.

Why a minimum of 10 years? Why not five years, or even less? "Long-term" for tax purposes means six months or more, although this obviously cannot be the measure for insurance purposes.

Nevertheless, five years seems sufficient for a fund to prove itself. In a period as brief as two years it might be caught in an economic downturn and not be able to show profits. It should be able to in five.

Hawaii Sets Up Day Care Sites For Senior Citizens

HONOLULU (AP) — Hoping to become the national leader in caring for its elderly, the Hawaii Legislature has passed a law setting up day care centers for senior citizens.

The legislature acted Wednesday after two such centers operated successfully for a year as pilot projects.

"You'd never realize how difficult it is to take care of old people at home," said Mrs. Robert Nakamura, who begins each day by dropping off her 86-year-old father, Chuhei Hada, at the Kuakini Home Day Care Center before she goes to work.

"When my time comes, I hope there's a place like that for me," she added.

Hada is among 15 elderly persons who attend Kuakini, a center financed by an $84,000 federal model cities grant as a demonstration project. If it works in Honolulu, other cities may try it.

At Kuakini, Hada and his companions—most of them between 70 and 80 years old—play games, watch television, take up ceramics or weaving, and even work on such community projects as addressing Easter seal envelopes.

Or, they may decide to get in a bus and go to a movie, a concert or the zoo; or even take a trip around the island of Oahu. They can visit each other in their homes and even do their own banking and other chores.

"The whole idea is to make them feel free and independent," said Kuakini administrator Ralph Maeda. "If somebody says he wants a haircut, we'll take him down and get a haircut. He doesn't have to do anything if he doesn't want to."

Because many senior citizens would have to be placed in nursing homes or other costly institutions, often at state expense, legislators view day care centers as a money saver.

Betty Johnstone operates the other day care center, called Hale Ho'Ola'i, Hawaiian for house of contentment. The center is privately financed and senior citizens pay $150 a month to attend.

"It's just marvelous how much you can help elderly persons when you make a long-term commitment," said Mrs. Johnstone.

Cooler and drier air with partly cloudy skies will prevail over the Buckeye state tonight and Friday. Lows tonight in the 40s and 50s. Highs Friday in the 60s and 70s.

WEST LAKE SHORE, NORTHWEST INLAND — Partly cloudy and a little cooler tonight and Friday. Lows tonight in the 40s. Highs Friday in the 60s.

WEST CENTRAL, CENTRAL, SOUTHWEST — Partly cloudy and a little cooler tonight. Lows in the 50s. Partly cloudy and pleasant Friday. Highs in the 70s.

EAST CENTRAL, SOUTHEAST — Partly cloudy and a little cooler tonight and Friday. Lows tonight in the 50s. Highs Friday in the 70s.

Doctor Expects Johnson To Face Long Recovery

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson faces a long road of enforced quiet as he recuperates from a major heart attack, but doctors indicate he may be able to return to a fairly active life.

"I expect him to recuperate his attending physician, Army Col. Robert L. North, said Wednesday.

Johnson, 63, flew to Brooke Wednesday after suffering a heart attack last Friday in Charlottesville, Va.

There was no indication when he will be discharged.

Nixon Watched News Flow On China Trip, Report Shows

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The text of a White House news summary prepared for President Nixon while he was in China discloses that the President was kept informed in minute detail of the news play his trip was getting.

In an unusual public surfacing of one of these presidential digests, the Washington News Committee of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association printed the full text in its monthly newsletter.

The newsletter, prepared by committee chairman Courtney R. Sheldon, chief of the Washington news bureau of the Christian Science Monitor, said the text was obtained in China.

"It was dated Feb. 25, the fifth day of Mr. Nixon's presence in China," the newsletter said, "and deals only with the gist of TV in a portion of one day and from regional newspapers only. This and a flood of companion reports on what the news media were saying were circulated privately among administration officials."

The news summary contained reports of what each major network had said or shown during evening newscasts. It also detailed newspaper play, down to number and location of pictures, position of stories and headlines.

The only mention of other news events in the news summary was reference to school busing and the hijacking of an airliner on which Joseph Kennedy was a passenger when these stories competed with Nixon for headlines.

Here are some excerpts from the text—abbreviations used in Dennis Wood, senior club president, explained the DECA Club and its purpose.

Money making projects were discussed and students were invited to come to the senior DECA bake sale beginning 9 a.m. Saturday at the Economy Savings and Loan Co. All proceeds from the bake sale go towards the national DECA leadership conference where Mrs. Greenwood, Debbie Dumm and Tom Tatman will travel in May.

Students also helping with the assembly were Betsy Snyder, Eddie Clifton and Tom Tatman. Forms were distributed to students who considered enrollment in the program.

Jackson Hits Wage-Price 'Honor System'

CINCINNATI (AP) — U.S. Sen. Henry M. Jackson contends that inflation can't be curbed with wage and price controls when "the honor system" is used.

The Washington Democrat said here Wednesday that President Nixon tried to make wage and price controls work without "machinery," or necessary enforcement measures.

Jackson said he would move to halt inflation with "tough wage and price controls right across the board, with no exceptions or exemptions."

Jackson called "the economy the overriding issue" in the 1972 presidential campaign although most of his comments here centered on military spending.

Jackson spent his entire three-hour stay at Cincinnati at the General Electric Co. jet engine plant in suburban Evendale. The plant, which has performed work under government military contracts, has laid off nearly 3,000 of 15,000 employees it had in 1970 and the main reasons have been cited as reduction in military spending and cutoff of the Supersonic Transport program.

"If my opponents become president, there won't be any work here," Jackson said regarding U.S. Sens. Edmund Muskie, Hubert Humphrey and George McGovern.

"The Democrats are inviting disaster if we run on a platform of national weakness," Jackson said, stressing that he opposes big military spending cuts. "The Russian build-up of strategic arms is a real threat."

Jackson called a McGovern proposal to slash the nation's military budget by $32 billion "the height of irresponsibility."

Bomb Blast Kills Woman In Ireland

BELFAST (AP) — Guerrillas set off a time bomb on the main street of a Protestant town early today, killing a 60-year-old woman and slightly injuring her husband.

It was the first bombing in Ballymoney, in County Antrim, and raised the death toll to 301 in the three years of communal warfare in Northern Ireland.

An alarm was raised after an anonymous caller said there was a bomb in a bar. Police located the bomb in a truck parked on the street but were unable to disarm it immediately and set out to evacuate residents of nearby buildings.

Glass and rubble from smashed stores littered the street after the bomb went off, flash fire ignited by the blast destroyed one store and the couple's apartment above. The husband escaped death because he had come downstairs to answer the police hammering at his door. He suffered cuts and bruises.

The bombing was blamed on the Irish Republican Army.

Elsewhere in the province, British troops came under fire in Belfast and near Londonderry, and a bomb destroyed a telephone exchange at Newtown Butler, in County Fermanagh.

Jackson Hits Wage-Price 'Honor System'

CINCINNATI (AP) — U.S. Sen. Henry M. Jackson contends that inflation can't be curbed with wage and price controls when "the honor system" is used.

The Washington Democrat said here Wednesday that President Nixon tried to make wage and price controls work without "machinery," or necessary enforcement measures.

Jackson said he would move to halt inflation with "tough wage and price controls right across the board, with no exceptions or exemptions."

Jackson called "the economy the overriding issue" in the 1972 presidential campaign although most of his comments here centered on military spending.

Jackson spent his entire three-hour stay at Cincinnati at the General Electric Co. jet engine plant in suburban Evendale. The plant, which has performed work under government military contracts, has laid off nearly 3,000 of 15,000 employees it had in 1970 and the main reasons have been cited as reductions in military spending and cutoff of the Supersonic Transport program.

"If my opponents become president, there won't be any work here," Jackson said regarding U.S. Sens. Edmund Muskie, Hubert Humphrey and George McGovern.

"The Democrats are inviting disaster if we run on a platform of national weakness," Jackson said, stressing that he opposes big military spending cuts. "The Russian build-up of strategic arms is a real threat."

Jackson called a McGovern proposal to slash the nation's military budget by $32 billion "the height of irresponsibility."

Bomb Blast Kills Woman In Ireland

BELFAST (AP) — Guerrillas set off a time bomb on the main street of a Protestant town early today, killing a 60-year-old woman and slightly injuring her husband.

It was the first bombing in Ballymoney, in County Antrim, and raised the death toll to 301 in the three years of communal warfare in Northern Ireland.

An alarm was raised after an anonymous caller said there was a bomb in a bar. Police located the bomb in a truck parked on the street but were unable to disarm it immediately and set out to evacuate residents of nearby buildings.

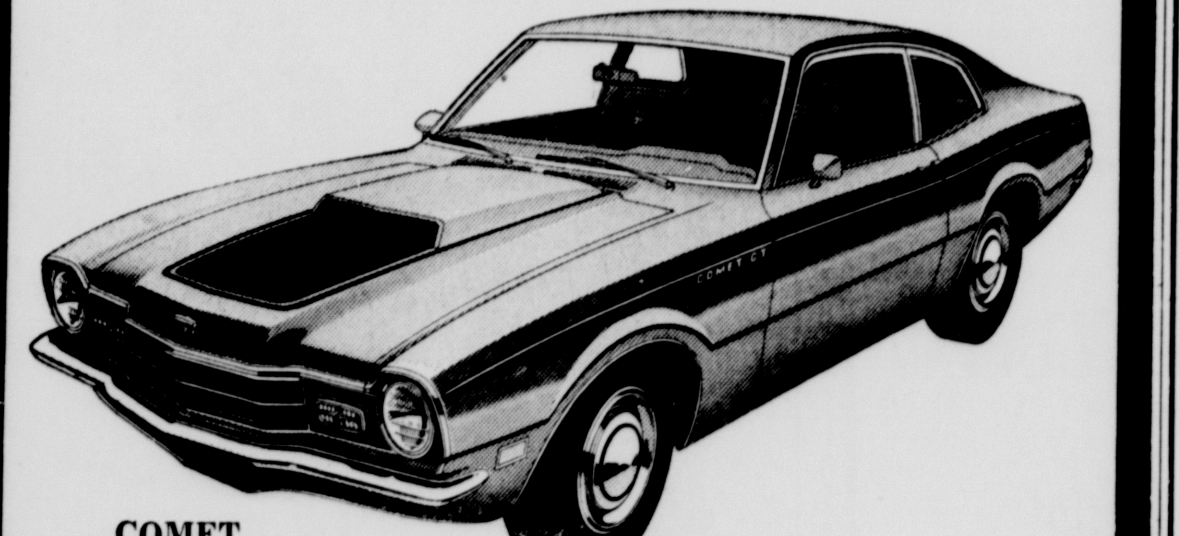

Glass and rubble from smashed stores littered the street after the bomb went off, flash fire ignited by the blast destroyed one store and the couple's apartment above. The husband escaped death because he had come downstairs to answer the police hammering at his door. He suffered cuts and bruises.

The bombing was blamed on the Irish Republican Army.

Elsewhere in the province, British troops came under fire in Belfast and near Londonderry, and a bomb destroyed a telephone exchange at Newtown Butler, in County Fermanagh.

South Bloomfield Church Setting For Marriage Vows

MRS. WAYNE ANTHONY ROGERS

The marriage of Miss Jo Ann Reese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lee Reese, South Bloomfield, and Mr. Wayne Anthony Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Rogers, Route 2, Ashville, took place 1:30 p.m. Saturday, April 8th at South Bloomfield United Methodist Church. The Rev. Charles Hill of Jeffersonville officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with arrangements of pink gladiolus, white pompons and blue bows. Large white bows adorned the candelabra flanking the altar. White bows also marked the family pews.

Miss Doris Roof, organist and Miss Mona Lee Morrison, vocalist, presented a program of nuptial selection preceding the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. She selected for her wedding day a nylon organza gown with attached chapel length train. The yoke front and cuffs were of striped sheer trimmed with wide bands of Venice lace. Tiny lace appliques were scattered over the skirt and bands of Venice lace trimmed the skirt and train. The bride's illusion veil was attached to a profile headpiece of Venice lace petals and pearl loops. She carried a bouquet of white roses accented with miniature pink carnations and lilies-of-the-valley atop a white family Bible. Her only jewelry was a cameo necklace and matching earrings, a gift from the bridegroom.

Maid of honor, Miss Sally Triance and matron of honor, Mrs. Karl Finley, were gowned alike in aqua nylon sheer with white Venice lace bands trimming the bodice and sleeves. White satin covered buttons enhanced the cuffs and top front of their gowns. Their headpieces were clusters of satin flowers and leaves with two tiered veils and they carried colonial bouquets of pink rubrum lilies and white carnations surrounded with white lace.

Bridesmaid, Miss Katherine Criswell, sister of the bride, and junior bridesmaid, Terry Rogers, sister of the groom, were dressed as the honor attendants and carried matching bouquets.

Miss Amy Jones, cousin of the bride was flower girl. She was dressed as the attendants and wore a headband of white pompons and carried a white basket of pink rose petals. Bill Carl was ring bearer.

Performing the duties of best man was Mr. Karl Finley, brother-in-law of the bride. Users were Mr. Carl Rogers, brother of the groom and Mr. Robert Tharp, a cousin of the bride. Groomsmen were Mr. Earl Criswell, brother-in-law of the bride; Mr. Bill Riser, Mr. Teddy Jury and Mr. Allen Tharp, a cousin of the bride.

The bride's mother selected a beige double knit dress with sheer sleeves and matching accessories. Mrs. Rogers was attired in a pink v-necked crepe dress with white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink rubrum lilies.

Guests were received by the bridal party and parents of the bride and groom and escorted to the social room of the church which was decorated with baby blue and white flower arrangements. The bride's table was centered with a four tiered cake topped with the traditional bride and groom figurines under an orange blossom canopy and encircled with fern. Silver candelabra with white tapers flanking the cake were surrounded with small rings of blue daisies and baby's breath. A wedding arch entwined with boxwood fern and blue daisies with wedding bells suspended from the center and two white doves in the branches formed the background for the couple as the cake was cut.

Hostesses were Miss Connie Kennedy, Miss Jeanette Marker and Miss Donna Little. Miss Vonnie Riser presided at the guest register.

For a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride changed to a medium blue double knit suit with light blue accessories and a corsage of white roses. The couple now resides at 62 E. Main St., Ashville.

The new Mrs. Rogers was graduated from Teays Valley High School and Victor Keyponch School. She is employed by Nationwide Insurance, Columbus.

Mr. Rogers, also a graduate of Teays Valley High School, is employed at Columbus Paper Box.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Alden, N.Y.; Columbus, Amanda, Gabanna, Washington C.H. and Miss Cynthia Ann Barnhill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barnhill, 106 Park St., became the bride of Mr. Stephen Bradley Cassidy, son of Mrs. James Cassidy, 373 E. Union St., and the late Mr. James Cassidy, 2:30 p.m. Saturday, March 18th at Circleville Community United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Edward Linville performed the double ring ceremony before the altar adorned with arrangements of white lilies.

A program of music was presented by Mr. Don Metzler, organist and Mr. Terry Anderson, vocalist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin and chiffon gown with an empire bodice and chiffon sleeves trimmed with lace medallions. Her bouffant elbow length illusion veil was attached to a lace cap. The chapel length train of white satin banded with lace medallions was caught at the back with lace and a flat bow. The bride carried a colonial bouquet of white daisies, chrysanthemums and white sweetheart roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Sue Barnhill, sister of the bride, wore a full length sky-blue brocade gown with an empire waistline and trimmed in white and blue lace. Her headpiece was a bow matching her gown and she carried a single white lily. Bridesmaids, Miss Jan Clifton and Miss Nance Ambler, were dressed identically to the honor attendant and carried single white lilies.

Flower girl was Stephanie Cassidy in a dress similar to the bridesmaids. Eric Gaines was ring bearer.

Best man was Mr. Rick Clark and ushers were Mr. James Cassidy, brother of the groom and Mr. Richard Stacy.

Mrs. Barnhill was attired in an ensemble of pink silk shantung with matching accessories and a lavender cymbidium orchid corsage. Mrs. Cassidy wore a peach colored dress and coat ensemble with black patent leather accessories. Her corsage was of cream colored cymbidium orchids.

A reception at Pickaway Arms immediately followed the ceremony. The wedding cake was surrounded by lilies and greens. Individual tables and the mantle held arrangements of blue and white carnations.

Hostesses were Miss Patty Arledge, Miss Gail McNeelley, and Mrs. Richard Stacy. Miss Paula Hedges presided at the guest book.

For her going-away costume the bride wore a blue linen jacket and dress and a corsage of red and white carnations. The couple now resides in German Village, Columbus.

The new Mrs. Cassidy is a graduate of Circleville High School. She attended Robert Morris College in Pittsburgh, Pa., and graduated from Franklin University in Columbus. She is presently employed as a secretary for Professional Columbus Maintenance Co.

Mr. Cassidy, also a graduate of Circleville High School is employed by Merrill Publishing, Columbus.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Columbus, Zanesville, Norfolk, Va., Florida, Pittsburg, Pa. and Springfield. Special guests were

Allied Losses In Vietnam Skyrocket

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam's offensive sent allied casualty figures soaring last week with the U.S. Command reporting the highest American weekly toll in six months.

The weekly casualty summary said 12 Americans were killed in combat last week, 32 were wounded and 19 were missing in action. All the missing apparently were aboard aircraft lost to enemy action.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported a 73 per cent increase in casualties over the previous week with 641 government troops killed and 2,166 wounded. And enemy casualties claimed by the government increased nearly 40 per cent, from 2,150 two weeks ago to 2,987 last week.

The allied commands now have reported these total casualties for the war:

American—45,691 killed in action, 302,852 wounded, 10,816 dead from nonhostile causes.

South Vietnamese—138,454 killed in action, 349,873 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—808,663 killed.

Oak Street, Lancaster.

The bride-elect is a 1970 graduate of Amanda-Clearcreek High School and is employed at the Hocking Valley National Bank, Lancaster.

Mr. Crowell graduated from Lancaster High School in 1968 and attended Morehead State University, Ky. and the Lancaster O-U Branch. He is employed by Shaeffer Tire Center, Lancaster.

The wedding date of August 12th has been set.

Strawberries And Cornmeal Named In FDA Recall Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has announced the recall of frozen strawberries laced with glass slivers and cornmeal contaminated with a potent cancer-causing substance.

The FDA said Wednesday it learned of the hazardous strawberries after a Mead, Wash., woman cut her mouth while eating some of them.

The recall affects more than 35,000 pounds of sliced, frozen strawberries packed in 10-ounce containers by Pacific Frozen Foods of Los Angeles and distributed in the state of Washington between Feb. 10 and Mar. 10, the FDA said. All lots were coded with the number 14071.

Another 1,000 cases, or 15,000 pounds, were embargoed voluntarily at the manufacturer's warehouse, the FDA said.

The FDA said it did not know the source of the glass, which showed up in six of 10 samples tested.

Aflatoxin contamination prompted the recall of 15,590 pounds of enriched white cornmeal produced by Dittlinger Roller Mills Company, a division of Flour Mills of America, at New Braunfels, Tex., between Feb. 17 and Mar. 27.

The FDA said about 10,000 pounds were distributed to Sequin Milling Co., Sequin, Tex., for repackaging, and the remainder was distributed to the firm's four warehouses.

Aflatoxin, shown to cause cancer in some laboratory animals, occurs naturally in the mold of nuts, corn and oil seeds under certain conditions of time, humidity and temperature.

The FDA said it found the white corn contained 114 parts per billion (PPB) of aflatoxin, and the Dittlinger cornmeal contained more than 77 ppb.

world animosities. But rumors persisted that the assault had been arranged, and often speculation centered upon Crazy Joe Gallo.

Colombo was believed to have incurred the displeasure of Gambino and other gangland leaders by a flamboyant life style, which included the picketing of FBI headquarters in behalf of his Italian-American Civil Rights League.

If Gambino was the stereotype of the Godfather, Crazy Joe Gallo was straight out of an old Jimmy Cagney gangster movie.

Always on stage, Joey, a wiry 5-foot-6, was summoned to Washington in 1958 by a Senate committee investigating jukebox racketeering. Legend has it he paid a visit to the office of the late Robert F. Kennedy, then the committee's chief counsel, and observed out of the side of his mouth:

"Nice carpet ya got here, kid. Be good for a crap game."

Joey and his two brothers gained reputations as button-men, or hired guns, with the old Joseph Profaci family. But they grew dissatisfied over their role in the gang's operations—some said they felt they had received insufficient recognition for their barber shop call on Anastasia.

At any rate, the Gallos gathered supporters about them and launched a war for control of the Profaci mob. Before it ran its course, it claimed 12 lives. Profaci died of cancer in 1962. Colombo took over and patched together a truce with the Gallos.

Joey went to prison in 1963 for extortion. Cancer claimed Larry. Little was heard in the intervening years from the youngest brother, Albert "Kid Blast" Gallo, now the last of the three.

Joey Gallo got out of prison three months before Colombo was shot. Detectives said he had been under partial surveillance since the gunplay and word got around that Crazy Joe was a marked man.

At 5:30 a.m. last Friday, Gallo: his bride of three weeks, Sina; her 10-year-old daughter, Lisa; and relatives and friends were celebrating the mobster's 43rd birthday at Umberto's Clam House in Manhattan's Little Italy, a block from the city's main police headquarters.

A middle-aged gunman walked in and pumped three shots into Crazy Joe.

The fourth gang-style killing since March 30, Gallo's rebuff was followed in quick succession by three others through April 10.

Byrd Joins Foes Of Kleindienst Confirmation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Senate Democrats say the nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general may be in trouble because the White House won't permit staffer Peter Flanigan to testify in the controversy surrounding International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

The latest to join the growing opposition to the nomination is Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, the assistant Democratic leader and a member of the committee.

Sources close to Byrd said Wednesday he would vote against Kleindienst unless Flanigan testifies in the Judiciary Committee on his role in the out-of-court settlement of three antitrust suits against ITT, one of the biggest corporations in the United States.

Byrd told newsmen he would be influenced by either Flanigan's refusal to appear before the committee or the refusal of his superiors to let him testify.

John W. Dean III, counsel to President Nixon, in a letter to the committee released Wednesday, said the White House was refusing an informal telephone request for Flanigan to appear.

Subsequently, the committee rejected four Democratic efforts to have Flanigan, Nixon's liaison with the business community, called to testify.

Flanigan has become a key figure in the ITT controversy because he recruited a New York financial analyst to prepare a report which Justice Department officials say was a major factor in convincing them to abandon prosecution of the ITT antitrust case.

Byrd joined another influential Democrat in his opposition to Kleindienst's nomination—Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., sponsor of the first two motions to subpoena Flanigan.

"I have reached the point where I expect to oppose any consideration of the Kleindienst nomination," said Ervin after the committee rejected in closed session his motions to summon Flanigan.

The first rejected proposal by Ervin called for subpoenas to Flanigan, other White House aides and Justice Department officials mentioned during the hearings. His second called only for Flanigan and Nixon aide William Timmons.

The third unsuccessful motion, submitted by Sen. Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D., called for subpoenaing Flanigan only.

Each was defeated 6 to 6 along partisan lines with chairman James Eastland abstaining. A majority vote is required for approval.

Don Henkle Retires From G. C. Murphy

Don Henkle, manager of the G. C. Murphy Store in Circleville for many years has announced his retirement effective April 27.

Henkle is presently manager of the store in Seymour, Ind., where he was transferred from Circleville in 1955. His career in the retail field spans 46 years, 33 of them with the G. C. Murphy Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Henkle will continue to reside at 1009 Gaiser Drive in Seymour following his retirement. They are the parents of four children: Chief Petty Officer Don D. Henkle, Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. Linda A. Combs, Indianapolis, Ind.; Paul A. Henkle, Franklin, Ind.; Larry A. Henkle, Bucyrus, O. The latter two are associated with the G. C. Murphy Co.

26 Drug Arrests Made In Cincy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Area, state and federal law enforcement agents made 26 drug arrests in Cincinnati and Hamilton County Wednesday night and early today, issuance of 50 Hamilton County Grand Jury indictments against 46 suspected drug pushers.

Police said that most of those indicted are "street dealers" in "soft drugs."

Most were indicted on charges of selling hallucinogens.

Judge Gags Attorneys In Davis Case

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The judge in the Angela Davis trial has barred attorneys from making any statements outside the courtroom about the proceedings.

Superior Court Judge Richard E. Arnason laid down this ruling Wednesday: "There are no more statements from attorneys concerning this trial."

Arnason said each side had complained about statements the other had made to newsmen about the trial.

In trial testimony, a coroner's investigator disclosed for the first time that Jonathan Jackson lived briefly after a bloody Aug. 7, 1970 courthouse gun battle.

Jackson, a judge and two convicts were killed inside a van which had been parked outside the courthouse.

Marin County coroner's investigator Keith C. Craig, who returns to the witness stand today, said he knew Jackson was alive because "he was rolling his head back and forth and moaning and his eyes were rolling around in his sockets."

Craig said that as he examined Jackson, "I spoke to him and got no response and I then ascertained he had died."

Craig testified that when he entered the van he first determined that Judge Harold J. Haley was dead and then turned to Jackson. After Jackson died, he ascertained that convict William Christmas was dead, he said. "When I went to examine James McClain, I was told not to touch him," Craig added.

McClain was the other convict killed.

Miss Davis, a 28-year-old black Communist, is accused of furnishing four guns and helping plot the abortive escape attempt at the Marin County Civic Center. She is charged with murder, kidnap and conspiracy.

Lori Archer Wins District Little Miss Pageant Spot

A twirling act earned 9-year-old Lori Archer a talent award and the privilege of competing for the Ohio Title in the World "Our Little Miss" Pageant.

Lori, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell E. Archer, Route 1, Stoutsville, was one of the area girls who competed in auditions held in the Chillicothe YMCA for a pageant spot. She entered both talent and modeling divisions and was interviewed by Ken Malone, east coast director of the "Our Little Miss" competition.

The world's first childrens beauty and talent contest, the pageant is considered a youth development program designed to give young ladies early goals in good grooming, social graces, talent training and scholarship and strives to provide them with inspiration and ambition through the educational scholarship fund.

Lori is a fourth grade student at Walnut Twp. School. She belongs to Girl Scouts, Methodist Youth Fellowship, The Stylish Stitches and The Roughriders 4-H Clubs. Her hobbies are sewing, horseback riding, swimming, skating and baton twirling. She is a baton student of Miss Susie Ervin.

If Lori is awarded the Ohio Little Miss crown, she will compete in the world pageant in Miami Beach, Fla.

OUR LITTLE MISS — Nine-year-old Lori Archer, a student at Walnut Twp. school, was named talent winner in the district competition of the World "Our Little Miss" Pageant. She will take part in the state finals where a candidate is picked from hundreds of Ohio girls to represent her home state in the world contest in Florida. Lori is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Archer, Route 1, Stoutsville.

Lunar Soil Exchanged

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet and American space scientists today exchanged lunar soil samples gathered on their countries latest moon missions.

The vice president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, Alexander P. Vinogradov, turned over 2.05 grams of moon soil to two officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The soil was scooped up in lunar mountains on Feb. 23 by the unmanned Luna 20 craft. The NASA scientists, Drs. Paul Gast and Michael Duke, gave to Vinogradov three core samples taken by the Apollo 15 astronauts on a mission last August.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the exchange took place "in a very amiable atmosphere" in a brief ceremony at the headquarters of the Academy of Sciences. Exchange of moon soil samples is part of an agreement between NASA and the Soviet academy.

Sneek-A-Peek

By Pickaway County Library Staff

Next week is National Library Week. All county children are invited to visit the library and to browse among the many new books. Some of them are:

Extraordinary indeed were the adventures of Chee Chee McNerney. Part Eskimo, she had been abandoned by her Ohio father when her Chinoak mother died. Adopted by a close-mouthed, suspicious young man who claimed to be her uncle, Chee Chee was made to accompany him on a race to find gold in Alaska. "The Extraordinary Adventures of Chee Chee McNerney" are based on family records of Evelyn C. Nevins. These provided the author with authentic background material on the Gold Rush.

"Skydiving" by Eleanor Kay gives information on a sport which is fast becoming popular. It contains names and addresses of skydiving club and a glossary of terms, plus a good index.

It seems that antique car buff are getting younger all the time. Donald Sobol's hero in "Milton, the Model A" is Billy, who is probably still in elementary school. He and his father buy an old car, dismantle it, and reconstruct it. Then they take it to a showing of the National Model A Club.

With beautiful word choice, Alvin Tresselt retells a dozen favorite Bible stories for the elementary ages. Lynn Ward, who won the Caldecott award, produced dramatic, vivid illustrations. "Stories from the Bible" is a real treasure.

Joan Fincher Klimo has created a treasury of crafts for children in "What Can I Do Today?" This is by far the most lucid how-to book for children yet devised. Printing, sculpting, papier mache, stichery, and collage are all presented in very large colorful pages. Accompanying them are instructions so simple that even adults can follow them.

Jane Thayer has written a practical, useful ABC book. It is somewhat unconventional, in that letters are not introduced in alphabetical order. She starts with easiest letters, separating similar sounds. Best of all, the book tells a story which makes it all worth while!

"Once Upon the Little Bighorn" is a grand retelling of one of the most exciting events in the history of the United States. Because the battle was confined to a relatively small area and sharply divided allegiances, reports of this last-ditch fight of the Plains Indians are fairly accurate. Evelyn Sibley Lampman has done a fine job in re-creating this scene for boys and girls. John Gretzer's sketches are true representations.

"The End of Summer" by Dorothy Clewes. Except it is placed in London, "The End of Summer" could take place in any large city. Elizabeth, resenting her new stepmother, moves into an apartment with an acquaintance from former school days. She senses an undercurrent of wrongdoing among her housemates and in her job. But her overriding desire to flaunt her independence makes her close her eyes to danger signals. Rudely awakened, she finds herself stuck with bills she does not owe and very nearly moves in with some hippies. Dorothy Clewes has written this book with sure-fire appeal for young adults.

Tourists In Nation's Capital May Find Walking Quickest

By JANET STAIHAR
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Visitors to the nation's capital this summer had better bring plenty of patience and lots of shoe leather.

Traffic's a mess.
Work on the city's Metro subway system has progressed to the point on some midtown streets that traffic moves with the speed of a stopped clock. Pedestrians move faster than motorists.

Visitors who don't know their way around could find the subway diggings enough to send the blood pressure soaring.

The major thoroughfares for tourists—Constitution, Pennsylvania and Independence avenues—are generally free of subway construction but most of the downtown Washington area is torn up at this point.

One of the most difficult routes on foot or by car is Connecticut Avenue from Dupont Circle to one-half block from the White House. Connecticut runs right through the heart of the downtown area.

Other streets in the downtown area fare no better. Northwest G Street is torn up, 13th Street from F to H is no joy ride, and I Street off Connecticut is a mess.

Overflow traffic trying to avoid the construction clogs up F Street—the main shopping avenue in the downtown area. Although there is no Metro construction around the White House itself, the hordes of tourists make parking almost impossible. And hailing a taxi from noon til dusk isn't much easier.

Hoofing it may be the fastest way to see the sights at such places as the U.S. Capitol, the FBI building, the White House, the Smithsonian Institution and the Washington Monument.

Hackman Laconic In Oscar Interview

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gene Hackman had some laconic answers for questioners the day after receiving an Oscar as the best actor of 1971.

A Twentieth Century Fox studio, where he was at work Tuesday on a new movie, a newsman asked if he could say what it meant to him to win an Academy Award. Hackman had a deadpan reply.

"No," he said. "I can't."

Sneek-A-Peek

By Pickaway County Library Staff

Next week is National Library Week. All county children are invited to visit the library and to browse among the many new books. Some of them are:

Extraordinary indeed were the adventures of Chee Chee McNeerney. Part Eskimo, she had been abandoned by her Ohio father when her Chinoak mother died. Adopted by a close-mouthed, suspicious young man who claimed to be her uncle, Chee Chee was made to accompany him on a race to find gold in Alaska. "The Extraordinary Adventures of Chee Chee McNeerney" are based on family records of Evelyn C. Nevin. These provided the author with authentic background material on the Gold Rush.

"Skydiving" by Eleanor Kay gives information on a sport which is fast becoming popular. It contains names and addresses of skydiving club and a glossary of terms, plus a good index.

It seems that antique car buff are getting younger all the time. Donald Sobol's hero in "Milton, the Model A" is Billy, who is probably still in elementary school. He and his father buy an old car, dismantle it, and reconstruct it. Then they take it to a showing of the National Model A Club.

With beautiful word choice, Alvin Tresselt retells a dozen favorite Bible stories for the elementary ages. Lynn Ward, who won the Caldecott award, produced dramatic, vivid illustrations. "Stories from the Bible" is a real treasure.

Joan Fincher Klime has created a treasury of crafts for children in "What Can I Do Today?" This is by far the most lucid how-to book for children ever devised. Printing, sculpting, paper mache, stitching, and collage are all presented in very large colorful pages. Accompanying them are instructions so simple that even adults can follow them.

Jane Thayer has written a practical, useful ABC book. It is somewhat unconventional, in that letters are not introduced in alphabetical order. She starts with easiest letters, separating similar sounds. Best of all, the book tells a story which makes it all worth while!

"Once Upon the Little Bighorn" is a grand retelling of one of the most exciting events in the history of the United States. Because the battle was confined to a relatively small area and sharply divided allegiances, reports of this last-ditch fight of the Plains Indians are fairly accurate. Evelyn Sibley Lampman has done a fine job in re-creating this scene for boys and girls. John Gretzer's sketches are true representations.

"The End of Summer" by Dorothy Clewes. Except it is placed in London, "The End of Summer" could take place in any large city. Elizabeth, resenting her new stepmother, moves into an apartment with an acquaintance from former school days. She senses an undercurrent of wrongdoing among her housemates and in her job. But her overriding desire to flaunt her independence makes her close her eyes to danger signals. Rudely awakened, she finds herself stuck with bills she does not owe and very nearly moves in with some hippies. Dorothy Clewes has written this book with sure-fire appeal for young adults.

Mrs. Muskie Confident Husband Will Win Demo Nod

CINCINNATI (AP) — By fighting uphill, U.S. Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine will win the Democratic presidential nomination, his wife says.

Jane Muskie said during a news conference here Wednesday that her husband's decline in recent primaries and opinion polls is a definite advantage.

"To maintain a front-running position for two years is a brutal thing," Mrs. Muskie said. "He's been subjected to brutal attacks from his own party and from the Republican party."

"It's a great relief for us both for him not to be first," Mrs. Muskie said her husband "has won elections for 25 years fighting uphill."

In statements similar to those in addresses at both Columbus and Cleveland Wednesday, Mrs. Muskie said despite the recent losses in primaries, "the name of the game is delegates and my husband still leads in delegates."

She pointed out that no other candidate has won more than two primaries while her husband has won in Arizona, Iowa, Illinois and New Hampshire.

"I think that speaks for itself," she continued.

In Columbus, Mrs. Muskie said, "We have that background, the winning background. But I must say I wish he could have won in the other states too."

She said at a luncheon rally that "we hope to win here, real big. From the caliber of persons supporting Ed Muskie in Ohio, I think his chances are very good."

Asked if her husband would campaign more in Ohio than in Indiana which has a primary the same day, Mrs. Muskie said she believed he would.

"Ed and I neither one play the numbers game but you know the name of the game is delegates. Ed is still leading in committed delegates and that is what we are shooting for in Ohio."

Taft Election Chief Moves To Cincinnati

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—John J. Kelley, campaign manager for U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., is moving from Cleveland to Cincinnati, where Taft is bidding for control of local Republican party machinery, but Kelley says politics is not involved in his decision.

Kelley said Tuesday that he will become chief executive officer of Fleischmann Enterprises of Cincinnati on May 1 and the move is "entirely unrelated to political implications."

Crashes Kill 3 Persons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two children were hit and killed by cars in the state late Wednesday, and a suburban Cleveland woman was run over and killed by her own car.

The dead:

CLEVELAND — Wesley Craig, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Craig, struck by a car as he tried to cross the street to play with a neighbor child.

COLUMBUS — Bonita Meek, 5, when struck by a hit-and-run driver when she darted into a street on the city's east side.

CLEVELAND — Mrs. Elsworth Nichols, 73, when she apparently fell under her own car near her home in suburban Rocky River. Police said the car apparently started rolling as Mrs. Nichols tried to step out of it.

3 Companies Billed For Water Pollution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Natural Resources has billed three Ohio companies $5,815 for allegedly killing fish by allowing chemicals to leak into streams.

The bills went to:

—Morrill Chemical Co., Marion County, $1,143 for 661 fish reportedly killed by chemicals from a fertilizer plant in the Little Sandusky River in October, 1971.

—Landmark Corp., $2,545 for 15,870 fish reported killed by fuel oil from a storage tank in Prairie Creek in Paulding County in October, 1971.

—Velvet Ice Cream Co. of Utica, $21,127 for 17,293 fish reported killed by ammonia in the North Fork of the Licking River in September, 1971.

Huntington Bank Backs Beautification

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — A Huntington bank, in an apparent beautification effort is allocating $1 million for loans at a 2 per cent rate to businesses for exterior improvements.

"Any business within the corporate limits of the city is eligible to apply for a loan of up to $10,000, effective immediately, to be used for improving the store front of their present location," said Coleman Trainor Jr., president of the First Huntington National Bank.

(F) Every joint resolution which has been adopted in both houses of the general assembly shall be signed by the presiding officer of each house to certify that the procedural requirements for adoption have been met and shall forthwith be filed with the secretary of state.

SECTION 16. If the governor approves an act, he shall sign it. If he does not approve it, he shall return it with his objections in writing, which shall enter the journal of the house to which it is returned. If three-fifths of the members elected to the house of representatives vote to pass the bill, it shall be sent, with the objections of the governor, to the other house.

SECTION 17. If the governor vetoes a bill, he shall sign it. Crashes Kill 3 Persons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two children were hit and killed by cars in the state late Wednesday, and a suburban Cleveland woman was run over and killed by her own car.

The dead:

CLEVELAND — Wesley Craig, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Craig, struck by a car as he tried to cross the street to play with a neighbor child.

COLUMBUS — Bonita Meek, 5, when struck by a hit-and-run driver when she darted into a street on the city's east side.

CLEVELAND — Mrs. Elsworth Nichols, 73, when she apparently fell under her own car near her home in suburban Rocky River. Police said the car apparently started rolling as Mrs. Nichols tried to step out of it.

3 Companies Billed For Water Pollution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Natural Resources has billed three Ohio companies $5,815 for allegedly killing fish by allowing chemicals to leak into streams.

The bills went to:

—Morrill Chemical Co., Marion County, $1,143 for 661 fish reportedly killed by chemicals from a fertilizer plant in the Little Sandusky River in October, 1971.

—Landmark Corp., $2,545 for 15,870 fish reported killed by fuel oil from a storage tank in Prairie Creek in Paulding County in October, 1971.

—Velvet Ice Cream Co. of Utica, $21,127 for 17,293 fish reported killed by ammonia in the North Fork of the Licking River in September, 1971.

Mrs. Muskie Confident Husband Will Win Demo Noa

CINCINNATI (AP) — By fighting uphill, U.S. Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine will win the Democratic presidential nomination, his wife says.

Jane Muskie said during a news conference here Wednesday that her husband's decline in recent primaries and opinion polls is a definite advantage.

"To maintain a front-running position for two years is a brutal thing," Mrs. Muskie said. "He's been subjected to brutal attacks from his own party and from the Republican party."

"It's a great relief for us both for him not to be first," Mrs. Muskie said her husband "has won elections for 25 years fighting uphill."

In statements similar to those in addresses at both Columbus and Cleveland Wednesday, Mrs. Muskie said despite the recent losses in primaries, "the name of the game is delegates and my husband still leads in delegates."

She pointed out that no other candidate has won more than two primaries while her husband has won in Arizona, Iowa, Illinois and New Hampshire.

"I think that speaks for itself," she continued.

In Columbus, Mrs. Muskie said, "We have that background, the winning background. But I must say I wish he could have won in the other states too."

She said at a luncheon rally that "we hope to win here, real big. From the caliber of persons supporting Ed Muskie in Ohio, I think his chances are very good."

Asked if her husband would campaign more in Ohio than in

Taft Election Chief Moves To Cincinnati

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — John J. Kelley, campaign manager for U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., is moving from Cleveland to Cincinnati, where Taft is bidding for control of local Republican party machinery, but Kelley says politics is not involved in his decision.

Kelley said Tuesday that he will become chief executive officer of Fleischmann Enterprises of Cincinnati on May 1 and the move is "entirely unrelated to political implications."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Who Should Take Care Of Mom?

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know who is responsible for the care and entertainment of an elderly mother who lives alone and has no hobbies or interests.

There are five of us children, all married and living in the area. I feel that the responsibility should be shared equally among the two sons and three daughters. My brothers feel that a mother is the responsibility of her daughters. What would you suggest I do about the situation?

TROUBLED DAUGHTER

DEAR TROUBLED: Who is "responsible?" You all are. What should you do about the situation? Exactly what I presume you have been doing. Giving your mother all the time and attention you can, and reminding your brothers that she is also their mother, and they ought to be ashamed of themselves for neglecting her.

DEAR ABBY: This concerns saying grace at the table. My husband and I never said grace, however we do thank the Lord for our food, along with all our other blessings in our prayer at night.

When we invited a certain couple over for supper, they always say grace out loud at our table. Correct me if I am wrong, but I think this is very impolite. If they feel like saying grace, they should say it to themselves because by this time they know we don't say it.

If you agree with me, Abby, what would you suggest I say to these people?

QUIET AT MEALTIME

DEAR QUIET: It would be impolite of you to discourage your guests from saying grace aloud at your table if that is their custom. If you wish to remain silent, that's your privilege.

DEAR ABBY: My boss (a woman) invited me to a bridal shower for a coworker. I brought a shower gift to the party, which was a small buffet supper. My boss gave the bride a very nice clock radio.

The next morning at work I found a note on my desk from my boss. It said I owed her $1.50 for my share of the clock radio and $1.75 for the food at the shower.

When I was invited, nothing was said about chipping in for the food or the clock radio. And since I brought my own shower gift I didn't see why I should be expected to chip in for another one.

Never in my life have I gone to a party where I was later asked to chip in for the refreshments. I am only 17, and this is a lot of money for a working girl. If you were me, would you pat it and keep your mouth shut, or refuse to pay it and risk getting on the bad

America Facing Need For Energy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness says the United States is in the midst of a sobering energy revolution and inevitably faces the hazards of at least some dependence on foreign sources.

George L. Lincoln said it would be a serious error to take the cheapest solution and import fuels to meet sudden at-home shortages rather than to begin the admittedly costly investment in new domestic energy.

"We have to recognize that absolute energy security is no longer possible in the foreseeable future," Lincoln said, "and that we have to accept some degree of hazard while arranging to avoid a situation which could be crippling."

Court Of Appeals Upholds ROTC Sentence

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Franklin County Court of Appeals has upheld the conviction of a former Army sergeant for disrupting an ROTC Day review last May at Ohio State University.

Arthur Flesch, 21, of Columbus, a Vietnam veteran, was convicted of chanting anti-war slogans during the review. He was convicted in municipal court last November. A judge sentenced him to 10 days in jail and fined him $50 but later suspended the jail term and put Flesch on a year's probation.

Skyjacker-Chutist Given Life Term

CALGARY, Alta. (AP) —

Paul Joseph Cini, regarded as the first skyjacker to attempt to use a parachute, has been sentenced to life in prison.

Cini, 28, was convicted Tuesday on seven charges resulting from his hijacking last November of an Air Canada jet with 118 passengers across the U.S. border to Great Falls, Mont., and back to Canada.

After being paid $50,000 at Great Falls, the masked man put down his double-barrel shotgun for a moment to open a package he said contained a parachute and the crew overpowered him.

Kay Looks For Election 'Miracle'

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard B. Kay says he believes in miracles and he believes a miracle could make him president of the United States. His big hurdle, he says, is fighting the personality cult that's built up around George C. Wallace.

"It's a tough nut to crack," the third-party candidate says. "I'm not going out with ax handles or stand in a schoolroom door. I'm not going to resort to gimmickery."

By his own admission, Kay is the least-known, worst-financed candidate for president in 1972. He has picked up the American Party banner where Wallace dropped it—but he's having a hard time getting anybody to see the banner or look at its carrier.

As an example, Kay called a news conference in a Washington hotel Tuesday.

Only one reporter showed up. "I have run into small pockets of people who'd rather have me than George Wallace," he says. "They recognize that if you haven't got a national personality you're handicapped."

Kay, 53, is a lawyer in Cleveland.

land. He is tall, well-dressed, and a bachelor. He ran two years ago as the Ohio American Party candidate for the Senate, lost and signed on without pay as one of the lawyers for Lt. William L. Calley Jr., at the My Lai murder trial.

Last December, long before Wallace announced he would run as a Democrat, Kay said he would seek the American Party's nomination to keep the third party alive. So far, he says, he's the only candidate.

Kay has some definite ideas on what the country ought to do. One is to get back on the gold standard by posting an enormous increase in the price of gold—enough to cover the cost of mining.

"If we raise the price of gold to $57 an ounce, we could open the mines. The national treasury can start buying gold to increase the supply that backs our dollars. This will also cause people who speculated in gold to sell gold back to the United States, which will give them dollars. And the only thing they can do with dollars is to buy American goods and get our balance of trade back into line. This makes it simple."

One way to get the welfare rolls down, he says, is by making government aid too uncomfortable. "I don't believe a person who is on relief should have the right to drive an automobile."

The benefits of taking away welfare recipients' automobiles would be many, Kay says. "Instead of their using the welfare money for repairs, gas and oil, they would be using it to buy the things the aid was meant for."

Kay asked Treasury Secretary John B. Connally for Secret Service protection accorded to candidates but was turned down because he didn't register 5 per cent in the Harris and Gallup polls.

"How could I get 5 per cent when the polls don't even include me in their interviews," he said.

Doris Days Son Seriously Injured

HEMET, Calif. (AP) — Terry Melcher, the film producer son of actress Doris Day, is in guarded condition in the intensive care unit of a local hospital after suffering injuries in a weekend motorcycle accident.

A hospital spokesman said Tuesday Melcher suffered two broken legs and extensive bruises when he crashed head-on into a car on the curve of a windy, uphill mountain road Saturday.

Melcher, 30, owns a ranch in the vicinity of the accident 60 miles southeast of Los Angeles.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Who Should Take Care Of Mom?

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know who is responsible for the care and entertainment of an elderly mother who lives alone and has no hobbies or interests.

There are five of us children, all married and living in the area. I feel that the responsibility should be shared equally among the two sons and three daughters. My brothers feel that a mother is the responsibility of her daughters. What would you suggest I do about the situation?

TROUBLED DAUGHTER
DEAR TROUBLED: Who is "responsible?" You all are. What should you do about the situation? Exactly what I presume you have been doing. Giving your mother all the time and attention you can, and reminding your brothers that she is also their mother, and they ought to be ashamed of themselves for neglecting her.

DEAR ABBY: This concerns saying grace at the table. My husband and I never said grace, however we do thank the Lord for our food, along with all our other blessings in our prayer at night.

When we invited a certain couple over for supper, they always say grace out loud at our table. Correct me if I am wrong, but I think this is very impolite. If they feel like saying grace, they should say it to themselves because by this time they know we don't say it.

If you agree with me, Abby, what would you suggest I say to these people?

QUIET AT MEALTIME
DEAR QUIET: It would be impolite of you to discourage your guests from saying grace aloud at your table if that is their custom. If you wish to remain silent, that's your privilege.

DEAR ABBY: My boss (a woman) invited me to a bridal shower for a coworker. I brought a shower gift to the party, which was a small buffet supper. My boss gave the bride a very nice clock radio.

The next morning at work I found a note on my desk from my boss. It said I owed her $1.50 for my share of the clock radio and $1.75 for the food at the shower.

When I was invited, nothing was said about chipping in for the food or the clock radio. And since I brought my own shower gift I didn't see why I should be expected to chip in for another one.

Address for the new Senior Citizens Center to open the first of May is 430 Lancaster Pike. The site is the present home of Mr. and Mrs. Merton Lorentz who have operated a service station, garage and store at the front of the home for many years.

Mrs. Lorentz (Twyla) will be the director. Other personnel will be hired to complete the staff before opening date. Mr. and Mrs. Lorentz are donating the use of their home and will live in a cottage on their property.

The large yard at the rear and side of the building will make a pleasant place to sit on pleasant days, play croquet or make flower gardens. A riding mower, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Lorentz, will make keeping the grass cut an easy task.

The garage has its own heating unit and will make a place for a workshop. The house lends itself for many activities such as visiting, sewing, cooking, playing cards, games, watching television, listening to the radio and just plain relaxing.

Money to operate the center was recently allocated by the federal government from the Ohio Department on Aging through the efforts of Tina Clark, PICCA director and Mrs. Lorentz.

The center will be open Monday through Friday and weekend bus trips will be planned. Activities for the coming week will be published each Saturday.

An open house will be held when the staff has been employed and schedules arranged.

National Book Awards Announced

NEW YORK (AP) — National Book Awards will be presented today for works including Flannery O'Connor's "The Complete Stories," Joseph P. Lash's biographical "Eleanor and Franklin" and "The Last Whole Earth Catalogue."

Winners of the annual awards for the most distinguished books by American authors published during the preceding year were announced Tuesday by John C. Franz, chief executive of the National Book Committee.

This year the committee added a 10th category, contemporary affairs; waived a rule barring books of authors dead more than two years and named separate winners in biography and history.

Flannery O'Connor, who died in 1964, was the unanimous selection for the 23rd annual fiction award for her stories portraying life in the South.

The history prize went to Alan Nevins, the late Columbia University professor, for the two concluding volumes of his eight-volume "The War for the Union."

Howard Moss' "Selected Poems," and the late Frank O'Hara's "Collected Poems" shared the poetry award. The judges gave the $1,000 prize that accompanies each award to Moss.

The new contemporary affairs award went to the "The Last Whole Earth Catalogue," a handbook for living outside the technological society, despite the earlier resignation of a judge over its nomination.

There was also less than unanimity over the selection of Charles Rosen's "The Classical Style" for the arts and letters award.

Criminal Justice Reform Bill Pushed By GOP Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eleven Republican senators proposed legislation Wednesday they said is designed "to reform the nation's criminal justice system from beginning to end."

The measure, which they said calls for new expenditures of around $1.5 billion, ranges from special grants to encourage upgrading local police and courts to a minimum wage for working prisoners.

It also provides, as does other legislation now before the Senate Judiciary Committee, for a system to compensate victims of violent crimes and death benefits for families of police killed on duty.

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., one of the sponsors, said, "This bill accepts the basic premise that piecemeal reform can never produce the results America needs."

rights of juveniles before law enforcement agencies.

Several provisions are aimed at improving prison conditions, including creation of a national commission to prescribe minimum standards for treatment of inmates.

The bill would provide for a 75-cent-an-hour minimum-wage and Social Security benefits for working prisoners.

Ashland College Profs Set Vote

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—Ashland College faculty members will vote May 9 on whether to make the American Association of University Professors their bargaining agent.

The election was scheduled at a faculty meeting Wednesday called by the National Labor Relations Board. College President Glenn L. Clayton said he recognizes the decision as part of the democratic process of solving problems and said he will urge all faculty members to vote.

The election follows reports last month that faculty members will not receive raises next school year and that 40 of 206 faculty members will not be rehired or replaced as a cost-cutting measure.

Development Director David Sweet said the program was being tested in 28 southeastern Ohio counties.

"We've got to eliminate the shotgun approach to economic development and home in on specific opportunities," Sweet said.

He said the computer program enabled the state to know what businesses need in the way of resources, markets and labor.

Drop Charge In Slaying

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A first-degree murder charge against Daniel Davis, 22, of Mine-cva was dismissed Wednesday after Ronald Sells, 25, of Canton testified he alone shot and killed Odrie Cooper of Canton last July 27.

First-degree murder charges against Sells also were dropped and Sells pleaded guilty to a second-degree murder charge. He was sentenced to life in the Ohio Penitentiary by Stark County Common Pleas Court Judge William Morris.

Sells, Davis and Cooper were members of a motorcycle gang called Hell's Henchmen. Sells and Davis were indicted by the county grand jury Jan. 11, about four months after a skeleton found in a shallow grave in southern Stark County was identified as that of Cooper.

Prosecutor David Dowd told the judge that additional investigation by his office indicated the charge against Sells should be reduced to second-degree murder. He moved for dismissal of the charge against Davis on the basis of his investigation and Sells' statement in court.

Davis pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a motorcycle and was sentenced to one to 20 years in the Ohio Reformatory at Mansfield.

Baseball Strike Picture Brightens

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The continuing meltdrama of baseball's stalled season shifted scenes to Chicago today where the 24 major league owners will consider another proposal designed to end the player strike as it moved into its 13th day.

"We have worked out a new offer and we are closer to a settlement," reported Marvin

Miller, executive director of the striking Players' Association, following two separate meetings Wednesday with John Gaherin, negotiator for the owners.

Miller scotched early reports that the strike had been settled but indicated the two sides were edging closer toward an agreement.

Gaherin, on his way to Chicago for the meeting of owners, said the only matter still in contention was the question of paying the players for any games postponed by the strike but made up later in the season. "Everything else is in place," Gaherin said.

The players reportedly have softened their rigid stand that they be paid their full salaries if they play a full 162-game schedule. One report said that Gaherin was carrying with him a player proposal quite similar to the last offer made by the owners and that the strike could end today.

The issue no longer is the pension question which touched off baseball's first general strike almost two weeks ago. That matter was settled by a compromise $500,000 contribution agreed to by the owners during marathon negotiations Tuesday.

Now, the players are questioning on what basis they will be paid when they go back to work.

"It's a simple proposition," said Gaherin. "We say, if we attempt to make up some or any of the games postponed so far and in so doing we create a situation where an admission will be charged for the games, we'll pay them. But if we bring it in as a single admission doubleheader, we owe them nothing additional."

The owners are steadfast in refusing to pay the players for the time they were on strike.

Complicating the issue is a split between the two leagues on whether the games missed so far should be made up at all. National League owners are believed insisting on playing the full schedule and fitting the postponed games into the season. American League owners are willing to forget the postponed dates and pick up the season in progress.

Fishing In Buckeye State Fair To Excellent

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fishing in Ohio this weekend is expected to range from fair in Lake Erie to excellent in Findlay Reservoir.

The division of wildlife, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, gave the following report on fishing conditions in major waters of the state:

LAKE ERIE — Few yellow perch hitting on emerald shiner minnows around docks and piers in western Lake Erie. Fish near bottom for best results. Few crappies taken from protected marina areas, minnows and flies best bait fished 4 or 5 feet deep, some bullheads from inlets of streams, fishing on bottom with worms. Outlook fair.

NORTHWESTERN OHIO
SANDUSKY RIVER — If no further rain this week, the weekend should be good fishing for walleye, some 16 to 22 inch being taken on yellow and white doll flies. Best area is from State Street bridge in Fremont to the Ballville Dam. Fish early in morning or late evening for best results. Good outlook.

MAUMEE RIVER — Catches of walleyes at Buttonwood, side cut park area in Wood and Lucas counties on white and yellow doll flies. Northern pike hitting below the Grand Rapids Dam in Wood County and below Independence Dam in Defiance County on large minnows and chubs. Good channel catfish catches at the mouth of the Auglaize River in Defiance.

Findlay reservoir 8 outstanding catches of 7 to 9 inch bluegills along shoreline near the pump house. Best baits are wax worms, mousies and red worms. Outlook excellent.

NETTLE LAKE — Good catches of largemouth bass near the inlet stream on purple artificial nightcrawlers and live nightcrawlers. Red worms fished on the bottom are taking suckers. Good outlook.

NORTHEASTERN OHIO
BERLIN RESERVOIR — Crappies along the willows and around bridges on jigs and minnows best bait. Walleye are hitting below the dam in the Mahoning River.

CONNEAUT LAKE — Trout and coho very good on cheese balls and worms fished from shoreline.

TAPPAN AND CLENDENING — Mostly fishing from shoreline and good crappie catches taken on minnows. In streams suckers running-hitting on worms and most caught by sagging.

PUNDERSON LAKE — Trout hitting on cheese balls and worms either from boat or shoreline.

CENTRAL OHIO
BUCKEYE LAKE — Good catches of channel catfish reported taken from banks on cut shad and nightcrawlers. Some largemouth bass hitting lures in the eastern portion of the lake.

KNOX LAKE — Crappies biting on minnows and bluegills on wax worms. Fish hit upper portion of the lake for largemouth bass using artificial lures.

INDIAN LAKE — Fishermen from shores catching yellow perch and bullheads on red worms and crappies on small minnows. Northern pike are being taken from northeastern portion of the lake on large minnows and artificial lures. Some largemouth bass hitting spinners cast from the shoreline. Good outlook for weekend.

SOUTHEASTERN
DOW LAKE — Bank and boat fishermen fishing during the early morning and evening hours. Near the dam are taking trout on Velveeta cheese and small spinners and nightcrawlers. Some trout from last years stocking now running up to 20 inches long.

TYCOON LAKE — Fishermen catching largemouth bass in 10 to 12 foot of water using plastic nightcrawlers and crappies on small minnows.

SALT FORK LAKE — Anglers are catching largemouth bass using artificial lures along shorelines. Bullheads and suckers hitting in small streams running into the lake, worms best.

BURR OAK — Boat fishermen are taking crappies on minnows around brushy areas — largemouth bass on large minnows rubber nightcrawlers fished from shoreline to deeper water.

SOUTHWESTERN
ACTON LAKE — Catching crappies on minnows and bullheads on red worms, brushy areas and docks best.

ST. MARYS — Good catches of crappies hitting along brushy shoreline and in canals on small minnows and flies. Early morning best time to fish. Bullheads on worms fished on bottom and bars.

ROCKY FORK LAKE — Muskie hitting artificial lures fished deep. Crappies up to 10 inches from shoreline and boats hitting minnows fished 10 to 14 feet.

OHIO RIVER BACKWATERS — Catching channel catfish up to 8 pounds on nightcrawlers and shad.

LA Lakers Edge Bucks, Even Series

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "That was probably the most significant victory of the year for us," declared Los Angeles Lakers Coach Bill Sharman following his club's 135-134 triumph which squared the playoff series with Milwaukee at one apiece.

But as the clubs headed for Milwaukee and Friday's game No. 3 in the best-of-seven National Basketball Association Western playoff finals, controversy still raged over the play that brought the final two Los Angeles points Wednesday night.

"Hairston traveled along the baseline," argued Buck Coach Larry Costello. "He ran at least 2 1/2 steps and never put the ball down."

Costello also asserted that official Manny Sokol was out of position when West lost control of the ball, which hit the official before West retrieved it.

In any event, Hairston's lay-up put the Lakers ahead 135-132. Before the buzzer, Kareem Abdul Jabbar added the final two of his game production of 40 points for Milwaukee.

He was outscored, however, by the Lakers' Jim McMillian, who hit a career high of 42, including 17 in the third quarter when the Lakers built a 10-point lead.

Sharman commented, "When you lose the way we did on Sunday, it can really affect your confidence, but this game should help us get it back."

That's why he called it the most significant victory of a season during which the Lakers won a record 33 in a row and 69 overall for another NBA mark.

All told, the lead changed hands 14 times during the 48-minute struggle Wednesday before a capacity crowd of 17,505. The score was knotted on nine occasions.

At the end of the third quarter, the Lakers led 106-96. But when Bob Dandridge of the Bucks fouled out, Jon McGlocklin came on to lead a Milwaukee rally with 12 points. The clock showed 1:17 left when his sixth field goal of the period put the Bucks ahead 130-129.

But then McGlocklin fouled McMillian, who sank two free throws, and a 20-foot West jumper gave the Lakers a three-point lead.

Jabbar cut it to one before Hairston's decisive basket.

Hairston finished with 17 points. Gail Goodrich had 25 for the Lakers and West 28. Following Jabbar for the Bucks was Lucius Allen with 23.

Wilt Chamberlain grabbed 17 rebounds for the winners while Curtis Perry had 12 and Jabbar seven for the Bucks.

Following Friday night's game, the clubs meet again in Milwaukee Sunday afternoon as a matter of record, the Lakers have played in Milwaukee 10 times since Jabbar joined the Bucks, winning only once.

The NBA playoffs continue tonight with the start of the Eastern Conference finals between the New York Knicks and the Boston Celtics.

Two games will be played in the American Basketball Association. The New York Nets play the Virginia Squires in the start of their East Division final and the Denver Rockets and Indiana Pacers square off in the final and deciding game of their best-of-7 West Division semifinal.

The Knicks and Celtics appear to be evenly matched. They split six regular season games, most of them bitter struggles.

Earl Monroe, although suffering from an injured ankle, probably will be in the Knicks' starting lineup in place of injured Dick Barnett, who is out with a back ailment.

The Nets have been the most surprising team of all those in the playoffs. New York finished third behind record-setting Kentucky, but brushed off the Colonels four games to two in the ABA's East semis.

Virginia took the regular season series from New York, seven games to four, but the Nets won the last three games. The key to the Nets' sudden rise has been rookie guard John Roche, who took over for Bill Melchioni when the All-Star was injured before the end of the regular season.

The Squires, led by rookie Julius Erving, have surprisingly jelled since the defection to the NBA of star Charlie Scot.

Denver's upstarts tied the series with favored Indiana 3-3 after beating the Pacers 106-99 Sunday.

Ralph Simpson leads the underdog Rockets, while Indiana is paced by rookie George McGinnis, Roger Brown and Mel Daniels.

Greg Hoskins was on the hill for the Tigers and turned in a fine performance. He gave up one unearned run, two hits, two walks and struckout eight.

Day and Bailey handled the mound chores for Hillsboro. They gave up eight hits, all singles, fanned eight and didn't issue a free pass in the contest.

Terry Morrison and Rock Davis each had two hits for the Tigers, and Tom Taylor, Dave Truex, Randy Sprout and Hoskins had one hit apiece.

LARIMER and Landess each had a single for the Indians.

Hoskins lost his bid for a victory in the first inning when he gave up a walk after two men were out. The next hitter sent a long fly ball which was dropped by the outfielder, allowing the baserunner to score.

Circleville tied the game up in the fifth inning when Hoskins reached first on an error. Taylor followed with a single but Hoskins was nailed at third for the second out of the inning.

Taylor took second on the play at third base and scampered home when Truex slashed a single.

The Tigers committed two errors in the fray while Hillsboro was guilty of one miscue.

Circleville will host Wilmington Friday in another SCOL tilt. Coach Danny Fouts will send his big righthander, Don Valentine, after his third win of the season.

The reserve game with Hamilton Twp., scheduled for today at Circleville, has been postponed.

Westfall Baseball Game Rained Out

Westfall's baseball team was leading Unioto, 5-0, in the fourth inning when the rains came down, causing the game to be called.

Arrangements for completing the contest will be made at a later date.

The Mustangs will host East Clinton Friday, weather permitting.

Trevino, Archer Top Picks In Monsanto Golf Tourney

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — "Tommy Aaron's got a good chance," the guy said, looking over the field for the $150,000 Monsanto Open Golf Tournament.

"A real good chance—just so long as he doesn't tie with George Archer."

Aaron has lost to Archer in playoffs two times this season after they had matched leading scores over the regulation 72 holes. Surprisingly, he doesn't feel he's playing that well.

"I haven't been at all consistent this year," the 35-year old Aaron said.

Still, his two second place finishes, when he lost to Archer over 18 holes in the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open and again on the second hole of a sudden death playoff at Greensboro, have helped him win $43,844 this season.

Second is nothing new to Aaron. He's finished there numerous times and it got to be something of a burden until he won the 1969 Canadian Open and the 1970 Atlanta Classic for his only two top titles.

He had the tag "Perennial Bridesmaid."

"But, you know, like I used to say: with the competition we have out here now, with all the good players, you have to play pretty good to finish second."

In 12 years on the tour, Aaron has accumulated more than $550,000 in earnings, and ranks in the all-time top 20.

His best was 1970, when he had winnings of $97,827. He slipped to a little over $71,000 last season when he failed to record a victory—or even a second.

He appear eto bs back in gear this season, however, and ranked as one of the men to beat in the Monsanto, which started today on the 6,679 yard Course.

Lee Trevino, the 1971 Athlete of the Year, and Archer, with some $99,000 in winnings already this seasons, were the two top choices.

Billie Jean King Blasts Wimbledon

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Billie Jean King gave Britain's Wimbledon tournament a backhand slap Wednesday and threatened to quit playing in the famed tennis tournament if prize money isn't increased.

Bibby, Nater Are Chosen In ABA Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Bibby, a starting guard on UCLA's national championship basketball team, and Swen Nater, backup center for the Bruins, have been selected in the American Basketball Association's draft.

Bibby was picked by the Carolina Cougars in the eighth round of Wednesday's draft, which included rounds six through 20. Bibby previously was selected by the New York Knicks in the National Basketball Association draft.

Nater, a 6-foot-11 redsairt, was No. 2 center for UCLA behind All-American Bill Walton.

The ABA excluded underclassmen in its Wednesday draft. The first five rounds were conducted in secret last month although a number of teams have announced their choices or leaked them to the press.

The Floridians, who also picked another 6-foot-11 center, Charles Tharp of Belhaven, in the sixth round, announced at the draft the earlier selection of Mike Stewart, a Santa Clara redshirt, on the second round; Scott English, Texas-El Paso, in the third round; an unidentified underclassman in the fourth round, and Greg Starrick of Southern Illinois in the fifth round. The team previously had announced it had picked Dwight Davis of Houston as its No. 1 draft choice.

Among the other players chosen Wednesday were Nate Williams, who played last season with Cincinnati of the NBA as a hardship case, by Indiana; and Steve Turner, a 7-foot-4 center from Vanderbilt, by Memphis.

NBA Ripped By Foreman

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The owner of the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association says there is "a concerted plan on the part of the National Basketball Association to destroy the ABA."

An angry Earl Foreman made the statement Wednesday as he confirmed reports that his star rookie Julius Erving had signed with the NBA Atlanta Hawks.

Foreman said he would ask the Justice Department to look into the signings of Erving and high-scoring Charlie Scott, who jumped from Virginia to Phoenix of the NBA last month. He also said he is seeking a meeting with Virginia's congressional delegation to look into the Erving and Scott cases.

Both Foreman and Erving

confirmed reports that Erving, who quit the University of Massachusetts last year to turn professional had signed a contract estimated at $2 million with the Hawks.

Slow-Pitch League Elects Officers

The Pickaway County Slow-Pitch Softball Assn. elected officers at a meeting held April 6. They are:

Chet Iery Sr., president; Ray Phifer, vice president; John Lewis, secretary-treasurer; Paul Halley, head umpire.

A meeting is scheduled Friday for team managers and any person interested in entering a team in the league. It will be held 6:30 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Pickaway and Franklin Streets.

Minnesota Racing Fans Buy Indianapolis Car

By PAT THOMPSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Three Minnesota men heard about people taking stock in world heavyweight boxing champion Joe Frazier and decided to try it with a 1971 Gurney Eagle race car driven by Bobby Unser.

The result is: If the newly named Minnesota Invader, which will be driven on the 1972 U.S. Auto Club circuit by Larry Dickson of Marietta, Ohio, wins the Indianapolis 500 next month, there wouldn't be enough room in the winner's circle for all the owners.

"This is the first time in the history of the Indy 500 that there's been a car owned by a public corporation consisting of many, many stockholders," said James C. Rogers, secretary-treasurer of Minnesota Invader, Inc.

Rogers, 40, owner of a St. Paul insurance agency, joined Dale Maloney, 37, official of a suburban retail trailer company, and Ronald C. Larson, 35, equipment supervisor for a suburban company, to form the corporation eight months ago.

Maloney served as president, Larson as vice president.

"All the principal officers have been avid fans of auto racing for a number of years, more or less involved in sprint-car racing as fans and also as participants," said Rogers.

"We're very active in our businesses and very active in the financial community. And we found that Joe Frazier went public seven or eight years ago before his first pro fight.

"We decided that nobody has ever gone public with championship auto racing and auto racing is the No. 1 sport in the country."

Rogers said that, after a thorough investigation, the three men decided to purchase the Eagle from Dan Gurney of Santa Anna, Calif., for $50,000 including engine.

"Our investigations from a lot of sources showed that the Eagle chassis was the best chassis in 1971 and looks like the new model will be the best this year," said Rogers.

"We picked up Bobby Unser's car because of the many track records it set last year and because it was available for sale."

Unser, drawing from Gurney's fleet of Eagles, won the Milwaukee 200 and Trenton 300 on the USAC tour and set nine track records in time trials.

Minnesota Invader then chose Dickson to pilot the car and named Paul Leffert of St. Paul, Ind., as chief mechanic.

Baseball Strike Picture Brightens

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The continuing melodrama of baseball's stalled season shifted scenes to Chicago today where the 24 major league owners will consider another proposal designed to end the player strike as it moved into its 13th day.

Miller, executive director of the striking Players' Association, following two separate meetings Wednesday with John Gaherin, negotiator for the owners.

Miller scotched early reports that the strike had been settled but indicated the two sides were edging closer toward an agreement.

Gaherin, on his way to Chicago for the meeting of owners, said the only matter still in contention was the question of paying the players for any games postponed by the strike but made up later in the season. "Everything else is in place," Gaherin said.

The players reportedly have softened their rigid stand that they be paid their full salaries if they play a full 162-game schedule. One report said that Gaherin was carrying with him a player proposal quite similar to the last offer made by the owners and that the strike could end today.

The issue no longer is the pension question which touched off baseball's first general strike almost two weeks ago. That matter was settled by a compromise $500,000 contribution agreed to by the owners during marathon negotiations Tuesday.

Now, the players are questioning on what basis they will be paid when they go back to work.

"It's a simple proposition," said Gaherin. "We say, if we attempt to make up some or any of the games postponed so far and in so doing we create a situation where an admission will be charged for the games, we'll pay them. But if we bring it in as a single admission doubleheader, we owe them nothing additional."

The owners are steadfast in refusing to pay the players for the time they were on strike. Complicating the issue is a split between the two leagues on whether the games missed so far should be made up at all. National League owners are believed insisting on playing the full schedule and fitting the postponed games into the season. American League owners are willing to forget the postponed dates and pick up the season in progress.

Fishing In Buckeye State Fair To Excellent

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fishing in Ohio this weekend is expected to range from fair in Lake Erie to excellent in Findlay Reservoir.

The division of wildlife, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, gave the following report on fishing conditions in major waters of the state:

LAKE ERIE — Few yellow perch hitting on emerald shiner minnows around docks and piers in western Lake Erie. Fish near bottom for best results. Few crappies taken from protected marina areas, minnows and flies best bait fished 4 or 5 feet deep, some blueheads from inlets of streams, fishing on bottom with worms. Outlook fair.

NORTHWESTERN OHIO
SANDUSKY RIVER — If no further rain this week, the weekend should be good fishing for walleye, some 16 to 22 inch being taken on yellow and white doll flies. Best area is from State Street bridge in Fremont to the Ballville Dam. Fish early in morning or late evening for best results. Good outlook.

MAUMEE RIVER — Catches of walleyes at Buttonwood, side cut park area in Wood and Lucas counties on white and yellow doll flies. Northern pike hitting below the Grand Rapids Dam in Wood County and below Independence Dam in Defiance County on large minnows and chubs. Good channel catfish catches at the mouth of the Auglaize River in Defiance.

Findlay Reservoir 8 outstanding catches of 7 to 9 inch bluegills along shoreline near the pump house. Best baits are wax worms, mousies and red worms. Outlook excellent.

NETTLE LAKE — Good catches of largemouth bass near the inlet stream on purple artificial nightcrawlers and live nightcrawlers. Red worms fished on the bottom are taking suckers. Good outlook.

NORTHEASTERN OHIO
BERLIN RESERVOIR — Crappies along the willows and around bridges on jigs and minnows best bait. Walleye are hitting below the dam in the Mahoning River.

CONNEAUT LAKE — Trout and coho very good on cheese balls and worms fished from shoreline.

TAPPAN AND CLENDENING — Mostly fishing from shoreline and good crappie catches taken on minnows. In streams suckers running-hitting on worms and most caught by sagging.

PUNDERSON LAKE — Trout hitting on cheese balls and worms either from boat or shoreline.

CENTRAL OHIO
BUCKEYE LAKE — Good catches of channel catfish reported taken from banks on cut shad and nightcrawlers. Some largemouth bass hitting lures in the eastern portion of the lake.

KNOX LAKE — Crappies biting on minnows and bluegills on wax worms. Fish the upper portion of the lake for large-mouth bass using artificial lures.

INDIAN LAKE — Fishermen from shores catching yellow perch and blueheads on red worms and crappies on small minnows.

Northern pike are being taken from northeastern portion of the lake on large minnows and artificial lures. Some largemouth bass hitting spinners cast from the shoreline. Good outlook for weekend.

SOUTHEASTERN
DOW LAKE — Bank and boat fishermen fishing during the early morning and evening hours. Near the dam are taking trout on Velveeta cheese and small spinners and nightcrawlers. Some trout from last year's stocking now running up to 20 inches long.

TYCOON LAKE — Fishermen catching largemouth bass in 10 to 12 foot of water using plastic nightcrawlers and crappies on small minnows.

SALT FORK LAKE — Anglers are catching largemouth bass using artificial lures along shorelines. Bullheads and suckers hitting in small streams running into the lake, worms best.

BURR OAK — Boat fishermen are taking crappies on minnows around brushy areas — largemouth bass on large minnows rubber nightcrawlers fished from shoreline to deeper water.

SOUTHWESTERN
ACTON LAKE — Catching crappies on minnows and bullheads on red worms, brushy areas and docks best.

ST. MARYS — Good catches of crappies hitting along brushy shoreline and in canals on small minnows and flies. Early morning best time to fish. Bullheads on worms fished on bottom and bars.

ROCKY FORK LAKE — Muskie hitting artificial lures fished deep. Crappies up to 10 inches from shoreline and boats hitting minnows fished 10 to 14 feet.

OHIO RIVER BACKWATERS — Catching channel catfish up to 8 pounds on nightcrawlers and shad.

Logan Elm Game Rained Out At Adena

Logan Elm was leading Adena 4-1 Wednesday when a thunderstorm halted the game in the top of the third inning.

LE Coach Vic Pontius said the game has not yet been rescheduled. It was the first Scioto Valley Conference game for the Braves.

Friday they play at Piketon.

Trevino, Archer Top Picks In Monsanto Golf Tourney

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — "Tommy Aaron's got a good chance," the guy said, looking over the field for the $150,000 Monsanto Open Golf Tournament.

"A real good chance—just so long as he doesn't tie with George Archer."

Aaron has lost to Archer in playoffs two times this season after they had matched leading scores over the regulation 72 holes. Surprisingly, he doesn't feel he's playing that well.

"I haven't been at all consistent this year," the 35-year old Aaron said.

Still, his two second place finishes, when he lost to Archer over 18 holes in the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open and again on the second hole of a sudden death playoff at Greensboro, have helped him win $43,844 this season.

Second is nothing new to Aaron. He's finished there numerous times and it got to be something of a burden until he won the 1969 Canadian Open and the 1970 Atlanta Classic for his only two tour titles.

He had the tag "Perennial Bridesmaid."

"But, you know, like I used to say: with the competition we have out here now, with all the good players, you have to play pretty good to finish second."

In 12 years on the tour, Aaron has accumulated more than $550,000 in earnings, and ranks in the all-time top 20.

His best was 1970, when he had winnings of $97,827. He slipped to a little over $71,000 last season when he failed to record a victory—or even a second.

I appear to be back in gear this season, however, and ranked as one of the men to beat in the Monsanto, which started today on the 6,679 yard Course.

Lee Trevino, the 1971 Athlete of the Year, and Archer, with some $99,000 in winnings already this seasons, were the two top choices.

Bibby, Nater Are Chosen In ABA Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Bibby, a starting guard on UCLA's national championship basketball team, and Swen Nater, backup center for the Bruins, have been selected in the American Basketball Association's draft.

Bibby was picked by the Carolina Cougars in the eighth round of Wednesday's draft, which included rounds six through 20. Bibby previously was selected by the New York Knicks in the National Basketball Association draft.

Nater, a 6-foot-11 redshirt, was No. 2 center for UCLA behind All-American Bill Walton. The ABA excluded underclassmen in its Wednesday draft. The first five rounds were conducted in secret last month although a number of teams have announced their choices or leaked them to the press.

The Floridians, who also picked another 6-foot-11 center, Charles Tharp of Belhaven, in the sixth round, announced at the draft the earlier selection of Mike Stewart, a Santa Clara redshirt, on the second round; Scott English, Texas-El Paso, in the third round; an unidentified underclassman in the fourth round, and Greg Starrick of Southern Illinois in the fifth round. The team previously had announced it had picked Dwight Davis of Houston as its No. 1 draft choice.

Among the other players chosen Wednesday were Nate Williams, who played last season with Cincinnati of the NBA as a hardship case, by Indiana; and Steve Turner, a 7-foot-4 center from Vanderbilt, by Memphis.

NBA Ripped By Foreman

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The owner of the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association says there is "a concerted plan on the part of the National Basketball Association to destroy the ABA."

An angry Earl Foreman made the statement Wednesday as he confirmed reports that his star rookie Julius Erving had signed with the NBA Atlanta Hawks.

Foreman said he would ask the Justice Department to look into the signings of Erving and high-scoring Charlie Scott, who jumped from Virginia to Phoenix of the NBA last month. He also said he is seeking a meeting with Virginia's congressional delegation to look into the Erving and Scott cases.

Both Foreman and Erving

confirmed reports that Erving, who quit the University of Massachusetts last year to turn professional had signed a contract estimated at $2 million with the Hawks.

Slow-Pitch League Elects Officers

The Pickaway County Slow-Pitch Softball Assn. elected officers at a meeting held April 6. They are:

Chet Iery Sr., president; Ray Phifer, vice president; John Lewis, secretary-treasurer; Paul Halley, head umpire.

A meeting is scheduled Friday for team managers and any person interested in entering a team in the league. It will be held 6:30 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Pickaway and Franklin Streets.

Minnesota Racing Fans Buy Indianapolis Car

By PAT THOMPSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Three Minnesota men heard about people taking stock in world heavyweight boxing champion Joe Frazier and decided to try it with a 1971 Gurney Eagle race car driven by Bobby Unser.

The result is: If the newly named Minnesota Invader, which will be driven on the 1972 U.S. Auto Club circuit by Larry Dickson of Marietta, Ohio, wins the Indianapolis 500 next month, there wouldn't be enough room in the winner's circle for all the owners.

"This is the first time in the history of the Indy 500 that there's been a car owned by a public corporation consisting of many, many stockholders," said James C. Rogers, secretary-treasurer of Minnesota Invader, Inc.

Rogers, 40, owner of a St. Paul insurance agency, joined Dale Maloney, 37, official of a suburban retail trailer company, and Ronald C. Larson, 35, equipment supervisor for a suburban company, to form the corporation eight months ago.

Maloney served as president, Larson as vice president.

"All the principal officers have been avid fans of auto racing for a number of years, more or less involved in sprint-car racing as fans and also as participants," said Rogers.

"We're very active in our businesses and very active in the financial community. And we found that Joe Frazier went public seven or eight years ago before his first pro fight.

"We decided that nobody has ever gone public with championship auto racing and auto racing is the No. 1 sport in the country."

Rogers said that, after a thorough investigation, the three men decided to purchase the Eagle from Dan Gurney of Saita Anna, Calif., for $50,000 including engine.

"Our investigations from a lot of sources showed that the Eagle chassis was the best chassis in 1971 and looks like the new model will be the best this year," said Rogers.

"We picked up Bobby Unser's car because of the many track records it set last year and because it was available for sale."

Unser, drawing from Gurney's fleet of Eagles, won the Milwaukee 200 and Trenton 300 on the USAC tour and set nine track records in time trials.

Minnesota Invader then chose Dickson to pilot the car and named Paul Leftert of St. Paul, Ind., as chief mechanic.
